DANIEL

"GOD'S SOVEREIGNTY OVER THE NATIONS!"

Daniel said, "Let the name of God be blessed forever and ever, For wisdom and power belong to Him. {21} "It is He who changes the times and the epochs; He removes kings and establishes kings; He gives wisdom to wise men And knowledge to men of understanding. {22} "It is He who reveals the profound and hidden things; He knows what is in the darkness, And the light dwells with Him. Daniel 2:20-22

"In the days of those kings the God of heaven will set up a kingdom which will never be destroyed, and that kingdom will not be left for another people; it will crush and put an end to all these kingdoms, but it will itself endure forever. Daniel 2:44

"GOD'S SOVEREIGNTY OVER THE NATIONS!"

A 1 THE PERSONAL HISTORY OF DANIEL 1

B1 Daniel's Deportation 1:1-7

- C 1 The background of the deportation 1:1-2
 - D 1 The time: {1} In the third year ¹ of the reign of Jehoiakim, King of Judah, 1:1
 - D 2 The cause 1:1b-2
 - E 1 The human cause: Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon² came to Jerusalem and besieged it. ³ 1:1b
 - E 2 The Divine action 1:2a
 - G 1 The capture of Jehoiakim: {2} The Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, ⁴
 - G 2 The confiscation of temple vessels: along with some of the vessels of the house of God;
 - D 3 The destination of the captured goods 1:2b

² Dan. 1:1 - Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon: Nebuchadnezzar II defeated Egypt and Assyria in the Battle of Carchemish (605 B.C.). In pursuit of the retreating Egyptians, he heard that his father, Nabopolassar, King of Neo-Babylon, had died. He hurried back to Babylon to take possession of the crown in his father's stead. He returned to Palestine to lay siege to Jerusalem in September of 605, having been King of Babylon for just a few days.

Nebuchadnezzar's name, in Akkadian, means, "O god Nabu, protect my firstborn son." Nabu was the son of the Babylonian god Marduk.

³ Dan. 1:1 - and besieged it: From a human point of view, the mighty Nebuchadnezzar and his powerful Babylonian army defeated tiny Israel.

There is an apparent discrepancy between Daniel and Jeremiah. Daniel spoke of the third year of Jehoiakim's reign (Dan. 1:3), while Jeremiah wrote of the fourth year of Jehoiakim's reign (Jer. 25:1; 46:2). This apparent discrepancy is readily resolved if one understands that Daniel wrote from a Babylonian perspective, while Jeremiah wrote from an Israeli perspective. Babylonians considered the first year or portion of the year of a king's reign as the accession year, while Israelis considered only the first full year of a king's reign as the accession year.

⁴ Dan. 1:2 - the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand: While man perceives that Nebuchadnezzar conquered Israel, the truth is that he did so because God gave Judah into his hand. Nothing happens upon earth outside of the power and control of God (Eph. 1:11). See "The Sovereignty of God."

⁷ Dan. 1:3 - including some of the royal family and of the nobles: It appears Daniel and his three friends were either of royal blood, or at least sons of Judean nobility.

⁸ Dan. 1:4 - showing intelligence in every branch of wisdom: Daniel and his three friends appear to have been exceptional young men in every way. I am intrigued with the testing process that officials in Nebuchadnezzar's administration must have used to narrow down the prospects to elite qualifiers.

⁵ Dan. 1:2 - Shinar: A Biblical name for the land of Babylon. See Gen. 10:10; 11:2; 14:1; Isa. 11:11; Zech. 5:11.

⁶ Dan. 1:2 - the house of his god: Nebuchadnezzar means "O god Nabu, preserve and defend my firstborn son." Nebuchadnezzar's actions in bringing vessels from the house of the God of Israel into the house of his own god, Nabu, Babylonian deity of wisdom and son of the god Marduk, were a slap in the face of Yahweh. Nebuchadnezzar was demonstrating the superiority of Nabu over Yahweh. The whole book of Daniel, however, demonstrates the superiority of Israel's God over all the nations of the world. It would not be long before Nebuchadnezzar began to experience personally the infinite wisdom and power of Israel's God.

¹⁰ Dan. 1:4 - literature and language: If an expatriate knows the language of another country and the literature of that country, he has a substantial grasp of the culture and significance of that country. It is then that he would be of greatest service in helping administer the affairs of state of that country, particularly as they related to the part of the world from which the expatriate originated.

¹² Dan. 1:6 - Daniel: "God has judged" or "God is my judge" or "My judge is God." Daniel is the author of the book of Daniel (Dan. 8:1; 9:2, 20; 10:2; Matt. 24:15) (see Thomas Constable, Notes on Daniel, Writer). He wrote at least portions of his book as late as 530 BC, after the fall of Babylon to the Medes and Persians. That helps explain the Persian loan words in the book. Liberal critics, with their anti-supernatural bias, disbelieve in the possibility of predictive prophecy, and thus date the book, following Porphyry, after Antiochus Epiphanes, whom Daniel predicts, in 165 BC. The view of the liberal critics thus makes Daniel a pseudepigraph, a forgery written by an unknown genius masquerading as Daniel, centuries after the Biblical Daniel lived. WordExplain repudiates the biased presuppositions of, and therefore the conclusions of the liberal critics. (See also Constable, Date.) For an example of the liberal, critical, antisupernatural, "Enlightenment" view of the writing of Daniel, which WordExplain absolutely repudiates, see Wikipedia's comments.

B2 Daniel's Dedication 1:8-16

C 1 Daniel's determination not to defile himself with the king's food 1:8-10

¹⁵ Dan. 1:6 - Azariah: "Yahweh has helped."

¹⁶ Dan. 1:7 - commander: This is the Hebrew noun sar (8269), which is a relatively important word in Daniel, appearing 18X in 15 verses: Dan. 1:7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 18; 8:11, 25, 25; 9:6, 8; 10:13, 13, 20, 20, 21; 11:5; 12:1. It is translated "commander" 7X, mostly in the earlier occurrences; and "prince" or "princes" 11X, mostly in the latter occurrences. In the rest of the OT it is translated with a wide variety of nuances, such as "captain(s)," "chief," "leaders," "officers," "officials," and "rulers." The most frequent translation in the NASB is "prince(s)." And that is its most frequent translation in the book of Daniel. In my opinion, however, "prince" or "princes" in the book of Daniel gives a connotation of human royalty, the son of a king. In Daniel that is typically not the connotation, for sar in Daniel, particularly in the latter occurrences, refers both to ruling angels and to ruling demons. Hence, the designation "prince" in all cases in Daniel is not the most appropriate term. The generic term that fits all of the contexts in Daniel is the noun "ruler" or "rulers." That is how I would translate it in the book of Daniel in every occasion.

²⁰ Dan. 1:7 - Mishael Meshach: Possibly from the Akkadian verb mesaku, meaning "I am despised, contemptible, humbled (before my god)" (Pentecost, 1330).

²¹ Dan. 1:7 - Azariah Abed-nego: "Servant of Nebo." Nego was a Hebrew variant of the Babylonian god Nebo, son of Bel. Nebo was the Babylonian god of writing and vegetation. He was also known as Nabu, which appears in the name Nebuchadnezzar (Pentecost, 1330).

¹⁴ Dan. 1:6 - Mishael: "Who is what God is?"

- D 1 His request to be exempted 1:8
 - E 1 His determination: {8} But Daniel made up his mind that he would not defile himself²²
 - G 1 with the king's choice food 23
 - G 2 or with the wine 24 which he drank;
 - E 2 His request: so he sought *permission*²⁵ from the commander ²⁶ of the officials ²⁷ that he might not defile

These young men faced a situation common to every modern Christian youth. They could be a part of the crowd and submit to peer pressure to get ahead. Or they could do what they knew would please their God though it might involve persecution and cost them advancement opportunities. (Thomas Constable)

It has well been said that faith is not believing in spite of evidence—that's superstition—but obeying in spite of consequences. (Warren W. Wiersbe)

At some point, Christians who are being inundated by their culture have to put their foot down. "I will go this far, but no farther." At some point the culture will collide with the clear teaching of God's Word. At that point, Christians have to revolt. They need iron-clad wills that will refuse to bow to the culture. It is not my job as a pastor or Christian leader to dictate where others draw the line. But I must certainly draw the line for myself and, as much as is possible, for my family. If Christians participate in everything their culture permits, those Christians are doubtless operating outside the Word and the Will of God. Learn to stand on your own two feet. Don't let a Godless culture dictate to you the music you listen to, the movies you watch, the language you speak, the acts you perform, the thoughts you think, or the standards by which you live.

²³ Dan. 1:8 - king's choice food: Undoubtedly, the king's menu would include items not permissible according to Jewish law (Lev. 11). Moreover, meat, in particular, may have been sacrificed to Babylonian gods (Exod. 34:15). Daniel was a young man with an acute conscience. He could not bring himself to disobey God's laws, no matter what the consequences may have been.

²⁴ Dan. 1:8 - wine: Jews customarily diluted wine with water to avoid prohibitions against consuming "strong drink" (e.g., Prov. 20:1; Isa. 5:11). Daniel determined not to imbibe the king's wine.

²⁶ Dan. 1:8 - commander: This is the Hebrew noun sar ($\underline{8269}$), which here would better be translated "ruler." See my explanation in the appropriate footnote at Dan. 1:7.

²⁷ Dan. 1:8 - commander of the officials: The first word is sar (8269), the second, saris (5631). It should be noted that the English "S" in the first word is a completely different Hebrew letter than both of the "S" letters in the second. In other words, the two words are etymologically unrelated. In Daniel 1:7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 18; 8:11, sar is translated "commander" in the NASB. In Daniel 8:25; 9:6, 8; 10:13, 20, 21; 11:5; 12:1, sar is translated "prince" or "princes."

The second word, saris (5631), is almost always translated, in the NASB, "officials" in the OT, including each time in Daniel (1:3, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 18). In the book of Esther, by way of contrast, 11 of the 12 uses are translated "eunuch" or "eunuchs."

²² Dan. 1:8 - Daniel made up his mind that he would not defile himself: Daniel was in the midst of a situation in which, incrementally and relentlessly, he was being forced to conform to an alien culture. He could, with a clear conscience, participate in portions of the cultural drift (name change and education, for example), but he had a breaking point. He would not allow his diet to be compromised. Daniel apparently took the lead and influenced the thinking of his three Jewish friends.

himself.

- D 2 God's granting Daniel favor with the commander of the officials:
 {9} Now God granted Daniel favor and compassion in the sight of the commander ²⁸ of the officials, ²⁹ 1:9
- D 3 The commander's fears in violating the prescribed diet 1:10
 - E 1 The focus of his fear: {10} and the commander ³⁰ of the officials said to Daniel, "I am afraid of my lord the king, who has appointed your food and your drink;
 - E 2 His concern about the probable deterioration of Daniel's health: for why should he see your faces looking more haggard than the youths who are your own age?
 - E 3 His fear of the subsequent danger to his own life: Then you would make me forfeit my head ³¹ to the king."
- C 2 Daniel's proposal to his overseer of a test period on a vegetarian diet 1:11-13
 - D 1 The overseer addressed: $\{11\}$ But Daniel said to the overseer ³²

 30 Dan. 1:10 - commander: This is the Hebrew noun sar (8269), which here would better be translated "ruler." See my explanation in the appropriate footnote at Dan. 1:7.

³¹ Dan. 1:10 - forfeit my head: Though the commander of the officials may have over-dramatized his own personal danger, his fear was not unfounded. Kings had complete sovereignty. Under the wrong circumstances, one could easily lose his own head. The commander was unwilling to accede to Daniel's request. Evidently his denial and his reasons caused Daniel to rethink his method for obtaining his objective. He came up with a concrete plan that would not jeopardize the well-being of the officials placed in charge of his care. In today's terminology, he found a better "marketing plan" for his proposal.

 32 Dan. 1:11 - But Daniel said to the overseer: The word "overseer" is meltsar (4453), used only twice in the entire OT – Dan. 1:11, 16. Daniel did not give up in his quest to keep the Torah. Having been rebuffed by the commander of the officials, this time he spoke to the overseer directly responsible for Daniel himself and his three friends. Furthermore, he had a specific plan that met certain conditions, including a time limit and a means of testing. The time limit was short enough that nothing could really go wrong. More importantly, it would not place the well-being of any officials in jeopardy. It is possible that the overseer consulted the commander of the officials about Daniel's request. Otherwise, the statement about God's having granted Daniel favor in the sight of the commander of the officials makes little sense (Dan. 1:9).

 $^{^{28}}$ Dan. 1:9 - commander: This is the Hebrew noun sar (8269), which here would better be translated "ruler." See my explanation in the appropriate footnote at Dan. 1:7.

²⁹ Dan. 1:9 - Now God granted Daniel favor and compassion in the sight of the commander of the officials: Once again, we see the sovereign hand of God at work in the historical narrative written by Daniel. Daniel's efforts to remain true to God would have gone unrewarded with the favor God bestowed upon Daniel in the eyes of the commander. Though God did grant favor to Daniel, the obtaining of the favor was somewhat circuitous. When Daniel first asked to be exempted from the king's food, he was initially rebuffed by the commander, who gave excellent reasons why he couldn't accede to Daniel's request. Perhaps Daniel's first request was too general. His second request – this time to an underling of the commander – was evidently much more specific and well thought out. His second request gained acceptance (see Dan. 1:11-13).

 $^{^{33}}$ Dan. 1:11 - commander: This is the Hebrew noun sar (8269), which here would better be translated "ruler." See my explanation in the appropriate footnote at Dan. 1:7.

³⁴ Dan. 1:12 - ten days: This was a brief enough time period that, had Daniel's experiment gone awry, no one unaware of the test would have noticed any difference. In other words, the changes would have to be nothing short of miraculous to be noticeable in that short a time.

³⁵ Dan. 1:12 - vegetables: Any vegetables would have been permissible according to the laws of the Torah referring to diet (Lev. 11). Daniel and his friends would not have to "pick and choose" which vegetables were permissible to eat. Any and all were satisfactory.

³⁶ Dan. 1:13 - according to what you see: Daniel gave his overseer permission to scuttle the Jewish diet if the results proved unsatisfactory.

fatter ³⁸

- E 3 The standard of comparison: than all the youths who had been eating the king's choice food.
- D 3 The policy of the overseer 1:16
 - E 1 That which he withheld: {16} So the overseer ³⁹ continued to withhold their choice food and the wine they were to drink,
 - E 2 That which he served them: and kept giving them vegetables.

B3 Daniel's Rise in Prominence 1:17-21

- C 1 God's giving Daniel and his friends special knowledge 1:17
 - D 1 Knowledge and intelligence: {17} As for these four youths, God gave them knowledge and intelligence ⁴⁰
 - E 1 in every branch of literature
 - E 2 and wisdom;
 - D 2 Daniel's unique understanding: Daniel even understood all kinds of visions and dreams.⁴¹
- C 2 The king's interview with the four Israeli youths demonstrates their vast superiority over his other advisors 1:18-20

Annotated, Expanded Analysis of Daniel by James T. Bartsch, WordExplain.com

- C 3 Daniel's successful continuance as a court advisor during parts of three successive reigns: {21} And Daniel continued until the first year of Cyrus the king. ⁴⁶ 1:21

⁴³ Dan. 1:19 - the king talked with them: This was no hands-off enterprise. Amazingly, King Nebuchadnezzar himself interviewed all these expatriate youths. It must have been a matter of personal importance for himself.

⁴² Dan. 1:18 - commander: This is the Hebrew noun sar ($\underline{8269}$), which here would better be translated "ruler." See my explanation in the appropriate footnote at Dan. 1:7.

⁴⁵ Dan. 1:20 - all the magicians and conjurers: Magicians (chartom, 2748) are those who possess occult knowledge. The word is used only twice, here in Dan. 1:20 and again in Dan. 2:2. The word "conjurers" is ashshaph (825), used in Daniel here in 1:20 and again in 2:2. A "conjurer" is a necromancer, conjurer, astrologer, enchanter, or exorcist. In ancient times magicians and conjurers had special access, it was supposed, to extra-terrestrial knowledge. In reality, they were no worse consultants than many of our modern-day political consultants, whose advice is not based on the foundational truths of God's Word. Regardless, not only were Daniel and his three friends superior in their knowledge and wisdom to the expatriate youths in Nebuchadnezzar's training program, but they were far superior to any of the magicians and conjurers in their understanding and counsel.

A 2 THE PROPHETIC HISTORY OF THE GENTILES DURING THE TIMES OF THE GENTILES 2 - 7

B1 Daniel's Experiences under the Reign of Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon 2 - 4

- C 1 Nebuchadnezzar's dream: The Great Image, the Stone and the World Empires 2
 - D 1 Nebuchadnezzar's first dream 2:1-6
 - E 1 The time of the dream: {1} Now in the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, 2:1
 - E 2 The phenomena of the dreams: Nebuchadnezzar had dreams; ⁴⁷
 - E 3 The effect of the dreams 2:1
 - G 1 Troubling: and his spirit was troubled ⁴⁸
 - G 2 Insomnia-producing: and his sleep left him.
 - E 4 His attempt to have the dream interpreted 2:2-6
 - G 1 His calling in experts 2:2
 - H 1 The call for the experts: {2} Then the king gave orders to call in
 - J 1 the magicians, ⁴⁹

538 B.C.

⁴⁷ Dan. 2:1 - dreams: Nebuchadnezzar apparently dreamed more than one dream. Alternatively, the single dream, as he described it, was actually a series of at least two different but related dreams. The net effect was that he was troubled and unable to sleep. When his experts arrived, he spoke of only one dream. The reader never finds out the contents of his other dreams. Evidently the dream the reader is told about was the dream the king found to be the most troubling. He deeply desired to understand its significance. When told its meaning, however, he endeavored to override its import. Of course, he was powerless to do that, as time demonstrated.

⁴⁸ Dan. 2:1 - his spirit was troubled: Obviously, God gained Nebuchadnezzar's attention! He knew this dream was of enormous import. Yet he could not decipher it. There are strategic times in human history when God wishes to communicate with the human race what will happen in the future. Daniel 2 records one of those times.

⁴⁹ Dan. 2:2 - magicians: Magicians (chartom, 2748) are those who possess occult knowledge. The NASB footnote reads, "Or soothsayer priests." This Hebrew word is used only here and in 1:20 in the book of Daniel. Nebuchadnezzar assumed the magicians could help explain his most troubling dream. It is also used twice in Genesis and six times in Exodus. Its Aramaic equivalent (chartom, 2749) is used five times in Daniel – 2:10, 27; 4:7, 9; 5:11 (in the English version. In the Hebrew (Aramaic) text it is 2:10, 27; 4:4, 6; 5:11).

- J 2 the conjurers, 50
- J 3 the sorcerers ⁵¹
- J 4 and the Chaldeans ⁵²
- H 2 The purpose of the experts: to tell the king his dreams.
- H 3 The arrival of the experts: So they came in and stood before the king.
- G 2 His announcement of his anxious desire to understand: {3} The king said to them, "I had a dream and my spirit is anxious to understand the dream." 2:3
- G 3 The Chaldeans' request for the substance of the dream 2:4
 - H 1 The identification of the speakers: {4} Then the Chaldeans ⁵³ spoke to the king in Aramaic: ⁵⁴

⁵² Dan. 2:2 - Chaldeans: The NASB footnote reads, in part, "Or master astrologers." The Hebrew word is Kasdi (3778). It refers to inhabitants of Chaldea, living along the lower Euphrates and Tigris Rivers. These people were considered to possess great wisdom.

⁵³ Dan. 2:4 - Chaldeans: The term encompasses all the "wise men" / sorcerers / magicians assembled before the king.

God has always had an outreach program for the world's nations (Gentiles). The Book of Jonah illustrates that truth. So does the fact that the entire NT was written in Greek, the Lingua Franca of Jesus' day. GOD HAS ALWAYS HAD A PLAN TO REACH THE WORLD.

An application we can formulate is that God especially targeted the information contained in Daniel 2:4 - 7:28 for us Gentile nations. God wants us to know the future. There are various elements of Biblical scholarship, including Amillennialists and even some Historical Premillennialists, that belittle Dispensationalism's practice of charting future events. That is certainly not a Biblical attitude, however.

- H 2 The respect of the speakers: "O king, live forever!
- H 3 The request of the speakers: Tell the dream to your servants,
- H 4 The assurance of the speakers: and we will declare the interpretation." ⁵⁵
- G 4 The shocking demands of the king 2:5-6

 - H 2 Failure to do so results in annihilation: if you do not make known to me the dream and its interpretation, ⁵⁶ 2:5b
 - J 1 you will be torn limb from limb
 - J 2 and your houses will be made a rubbish heap.
 - H 3 Success in doing so results in gifts, reward and great honor: {6} "But if you declare the dream and its interpretation, 2:6a
 - J 1 you will receive from me gifts
 - J 2 and a reward
 - J 3 and great honor;
 - H 4 His renewed ultimatum: therefore declare to me the dream and its interpretation." 2:6b
- D 2 The danger for the Babylonian wise men 2:7-16

⁵⁵ Dan. 2:4 - interpretation: The word is peshar (6591), an Aramaic word used only in Daniel for a total of 32X. It appears extensively in chapters 2, 4, and 5, and once in chapter 7 (v. 16). It means "interpretation" or "solution" or "explanation." In Daniel 2 it related to the significance of the king's dream about a metallic image smashed by a huge rock. In chapter 4 it related to the significance of the king's dream about a large tree that was cut down. In chapter 5 it related to the significance of the handwriting on the wall. In 7:16 it related to the significance of Daniel's dream about four large beasts arising from the sea, the heavenly throne, and the appearance of the Son of Man who was granted a kingdom.

⁵⁶ Dan. 2:5 - make known to me the dream and its interpretation: This was of God to make it impossible for the king to rely on merely human interpretation. This decree by the king was so designed by God that only Daniel, to whom God was to reveal the secret, would be able successfully to meet the impossible demands of the king, and thus secure for all history God's mandate on the future events of the world!

⁵⁷ Dan. 2:12 - destroy all the wise men of Babylon: God is not above jeopardizing peoples' lives in His communication process. Even the King's advisors concluded only gods could reveal both the content of the dream and its meaning. God stacked the deck so only Daniel could reveal the dream and its meaning.

- G 2 Daniel's request for a time extension from the king:

(2) God sends us trouble so we pray. Oftentimes if we experience no trouble, we don't pray.

⁵⁸ Dan. 2:16 - declare the interpretation to the king: Though the king had been furious, he was temporarily mollified by the prospect that someone, at last, might be able to tell him what the dream was, and what it meant. That was more important to him, at least momentarily, than venting his anger at the "wise men." It is obvious that Daniel and his three friends had not been part of the initial audience with the king. If they were

It is obvious that Daniel and his three friends had not been part of the initial audience with the king. If they were ten times wiser than all the other "wise men," why had they not been called? Perhaps professional jealousy and a tinge of anti-Semitism had set in among the other wise men, and no one had bothered to pass the message on to Daniel and his friends?

⁵⁹ Dan. 2:18 - mystery: The Aramaic word is raz (7328), used only in Dan. 2:18, 19, 27, 28, 29, 30, 47, 47; 4:6 (Engl. 4:9). It conveys the idea of that which is secret, or hidden. The "mystery" in Daniel 2 was first, the content of Nebuchadnezzar's dream, and, second, the interpretation of the dream. No humans could unravel the mystery. The only one in the universe who could do so was God. It was to God that Daniel and his friends directed their urgent prayer meeting to request a revelation of the mystery.

⁶⁰ Dan. 2:18 - so that Daniel and his friends would not be destroyed: There are some lessons to be learned here:

⁽¹⁾ God is not afraid to put believers in a position in which they are FORCED to pray to stay alive!

⁽³⁾ Difficulties in life are God's signal to pray, not to give up.

⁶¹ Dan. 2:19 - night vision: "Vision" is the Aramaic chezu (2376), used 12X in Daniel. It is translated "vision(s)" every time except in 7:20, where it speaks of the "appearance" of the large horn.

- G 1 Daniel's blessing: Then Daniel blessed the God of heaven; 2:19b
- G 2 Daniel's blessing of God's name: {20} Daniel said, "Let the name of God be blessed ⁶² forever and ever, 2:20a
- G 3 His ascription to God of wisdom and power: For wisdom and power belong to Him. ⁶³ 2:20b
- G 4 His acknowledgment of God's sovereignty over time and sequence: {21} "It is He who changes the times and the epochs; ⁶⁴ 2:21a
- G 5 His acknowledgment of God's sovereignty over the reigns of kings: He removes kings and establishes kings; ⁶⁵ 2:21b
- G 6 His acknowledgment of God as the source of all information 2:21c-22

Power is geburah (1370), an Aramaic word appearing only in Dan. 2:20, 23. By power here is meant God's capacity to predict and control the future, establishing and removing the most powerful of human kings. Man thinks he is powerful, but man wields power only at the beck and call of God.

⁶⁴ Dan. 2:21 - It is He who changes the times and the epochs: God works everything on His schedule, not man's schedule. Man thinks he is in control of deadlines and the timing of the events of history. But that is an illusion. It is God who is in complete control! According to Constable, "Evidence of His power is His control of events; He changes times and seasons. In other words, He determines when in history events will happen and how long each process or phase of history will last." Thomas a Kempis said, "Man proposes, but God disposes." It is God who "works all things after the counsel of His will" (Eph. 1:11). Up to this point Daniel had been praising God for His power and ability in the revelation process – His having

Up to this point Daniel had been praising God for His power and ability in the revelation process – His having revealed the future both to the king, but especially, in this case to Daniel. At this point in His prayer of thanksgiving, Daniel begins to praise God for the content of the ream – the fact that it is God, not man, who is in control of human history.

⁶⁵ Dan. 2:21 - He removes kings and establishes kings: This statement captures the heart of the revelation to Nebuchadnezzar: God is the One who places kings and empires in power; and God is the One who removes kings and kingdoms from power. This dream of Nebuchadnezzar reveals that God, in the course of history, will place a series of kings in power. At the right time he will remove them from power and place another king in power. And at the end, He will destroy all merely human kings and kingdoms. He will replace them with His own king and kingdom that will rule the entire earth and never be driven from power!

We conclude, therefore, that God places Adolf Hitler, Joseph Stalin, Mao Zedong, Winston Churchill, George Washington, and Barack Obama in power. And God removes them from power. At some point in the future, God will establish His ultimate Messiah here upon this present Earth as King for a thousand years. But He will create a New Earth, and God will establish His Co-Regency upon New Earth in His Eternal Kingdom.

 $^{^{62}}$ Dan. 2:20 - Let the name of God be blessed: It is important for us believers to honor the name of God! Let us not be guilty of OMG, in which we use God's name merely as an exclamation point in adorning our language to fit in with the Godless culture around us. Let us use God's name sincerely, not for a worthless purpose (Exod. 20:7).

 $^{^{63}}$ Dan. 2:20 - wisdom and power belong to Him: Wisdom is chokma (2452), an Aramaic word appearing in Ezra 7:25; Dan. 2:20, 21, 23, 30; 5:11, 14. In this case wisdom is the ability to know and understand the future course of history, and to reveal future events to man, in this case, Daniel, who would further reveal it to the king.

- H 1 Of wisdom: He gives wisdom to wise men ⁶⁶ 2:21c
- H 2 Of knowledge: And knowledge to men of understanding. 2:21d
- H 3 His revelation of hidden things: {22} "It is He who reveals the profound and hidden things; ⁶⁷ 2:22a
- H 4 His knowledge of the darkness: He knows what is in the darkness, ⁶⁸ 2:22b
- H 5 His access to the light: And the light dwells with Him. ⁶⁹ 2:22c
- G 7 His thanks to God for answering prayer by revealing to him the king's dream 2:23
 - H 1 His gratitude: {23} "To You, O God of my fathers, I give thanks and praise,
 - H 2 His gift of wisdom and power: For You have given me wisdom and power; ⁷⁰
 - H 3 His answering of their request: Even now

⁶⁸ Dan. 2:22 - He knows what is in the darkness: Meaning here, specifically, the course of human kingdoms and the final Kingdom of God. These truths are said to be "in the darkness" because there is no way of knowing about them except through Divine revelation.

Similar statements can be made about the origin of all things. Man has concocted a God-dishonoring and false narrative about origins – the "Big Bang" and cosmic and biological evolution. But there is no human alive who can accurately understand how everything came into existence. No human being was there. Only someone who was there can tell us precisely how it happened. And He has done so. Yet His narrative is largely disbelieved. But only God knows what is in the darkness. Only He can tell us how it actually happened.

⁶⁹ Dan. 2:22 - the Light dwells with Him: A very symbolic statement which, in this context, means that God is able to shed the light of truth on things hidden and obscure. Specifically, God alone can reveal the development of human kingdoms and the eventual triumph of God's kingdom. In related Biblical statements, Jesus is "the Light of men" (John 1:4), and "the Light of the world" (John 8:12; 9:5; 12:35). God is all light, with no darkness (sin / evil) whatever (1 John 1:5). God "dwells in unapproachable light" (1 Tim. 6:16), and He is "the Father of lights" (James 1:17).

⁷⁰ Dan. 2:23 - wisdom and power: Since God had given Daniel wisdom (the ability to identify and decode Nebuchadnezzar's dream), He had also given him power (the ability to save his own life and the lives of the other wise men, and the ability to influence the king and politics because of his inevitable promotion in the affairs of state.

⁶⁶ Dan. 2:21 - He gives wisdom to wise men: Daniel here is praising God that He had revealed to Daniel and through him, to his three friends, the meaning of Nebuchadnezzar's dream. The other "wise men" of Babylon were totally incapable of arriving at this knowledge because they had no connection with the Almighty.

You have made known to me what we requested of You,

- H 4 His revelation of the matter concerning the king: For You have made known to us the king's matter." ⁷¹
- D 4 The dream interpreted to Nebuchadnezzar 2:24-45
 - E 1 Daniel's approach to the king 2:24-26
 - G 1 His request to Arioch 2:24
 - H 1 His approach: {24} Therefore, Daniel went in to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon;
 - H 2 His speech he went and spoke to him as follows:
 - J 1 His request to suspend the order of execution: "Do not destroy the wise men of Babylon!
 - J 2 His request for audience with the king: Take me into the king's presence, ⁷²
 - J 3 His promise to interpret: and I will declare the interpretation to the king."

(3) Power belongs to God.

- (7) We need to thank God for every answered prayer!
- (8) We need to thank God He is in control of human history, and we are not!
- (9) Faith realizes God is in control!

⁷² Dan. 2:24 - Take me into the king's presence: The reader is left with uncertainty as to why Daniel could enter the king's presence unannounced and without assistance in 2:16, yet feel a need to request assistance from Arioch to obtain access to the king in 2:24. Perhaps urgency overruled discretion in 2:16, or perhaps Daniel had obtained assistance in 2:16 but had not felt a need to report that detail earlier. Regardless, Arioch would lend some credibility to Daniel's entrance since Arioch had been charged with the responsibility of liquidating all the king's wise men in Babylon. Perhaps Arioch wished to use this new development as a justification for not having carried out the king's orders immediately.

Here are some applications to be made from Daniel 2:1-23:

⁽²⁾ Wisdom belongs to God.

⁽⁴⁾ God works everything on His schedule.

⁽⁵⁾ God puts Kings, Prime Ministers, and Presidents in power!

⁽⁶⁾ God removes Kings, Prime Ministers, and Presidents from power!

- G 2 Arioch's announcement to the king 2:25
 - H 1 His approach to the king: {25} Then Arioch hurriedly brought Daniel into the king's presence and spoke to him as follows:
 - H 2 His provision of a dream-interpreter: "I have found a man among the exiles from Judah who can make the interpretation known to the king!" ⁷³
- G 3 The king's question to Daniel: {26} The king said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, "Are you able to make known to me the dream which I have seen and its interpretation?"
- E 2 Daniel's honoring the God of heaven as the revealer of the king's dream mystery 2:27-30
 - G 1 His acknowledgment of the inability of the king's wise men to solve the king's enigma: {27} Daniel answered before the king and said, "As for the mystery about which the king has inquired, 2:27
 - H 1 neither wise men, ⁷⁴
 - H 2 conjurers, ⁷⁵
 - H 3 magicians ⁷⁶

⁷³ Dan. 2:25 - who can make the interpretation known to the king: Frankly, Arioch was putting his own credibility, and thus his own life, on the line before the king. He really had no way of knowing if Daniel were telling the truth or not. Arioch seemed quite certain in his statement of introduction to the king. And yet, his reliance on Daniel had to have been based, one would think, on his prior knowledge of Daniel, his character, and his veracity.

⁷⁶ Dan. 2:27 - magicians: Aramaic chartom (2749), used 5X, only in Daniel 2:10, 27; 4:4 (4:7 in Engl.), 6 (4:9 in Engl.); 5:11. It is always translated "magician(s)" in NASB, KJV, NIV, and ESV. The Hebrew equivalent is chartom (2748), used in Daniel in 1:20 and 2:2, where it is also translated "magicians." The Hebrew word is used twice in Genesis, and several times in Exodus.

 - H 4 The content of the disclosure events of the distant future: what will take place in the latter days. ⁸⁰
- G 3 His explanation of the circumstances surrounding the king's dream 2:28e-29
 - H 1 The king was on his bed: This was your dream and the visions in your mind while on ⁷⁹ Dan. 2:28 - He has made known to King Nebuchadnezzar: God first communicated His long-term plan for human kingdoms to the most powerful Gentile King – Nebuchadnezzar! God first communicated His long-term plan for His final Kingdom to the most powerful Gentile King – Nebuchadnezzar!

⁷⁷ Dan. 2:27 - diviners: Aramaic gezar (1505), used six times, only in Daniel – 2:27, 34, 45; 4:4 (4:7 in Engl.); 5:7, 11. Strictly speaking, the word means to "cut" or "cut out," as it is so translated in Dan. 2:34, 45, where it refers to a stone "cut out of a mountain". By extension, it probably refers to cutting out the entrails of an animal to be able to determine future events. The context determines the translation. Its Hebrew counterpart, gazar (1504) means only "cut" or "cut off."

⁸⁰ Dan. 2:28 - in the latter days: The first part of the dream was in the days of Nebuchadnezzar. He was the head of gold. The next two empires, the Medo-Persian and the Greek, would replace the preceding empire in 539 B.C. and 330 B.C. The fourth Empire, Rome, would overthrow the Greek Empire in 63 B.C. The Roman Empire in the West ended in A.D. 476. The Eastern Roman Empire ended in A.D. 1453 with the capture of Constantinople by the Ottoman Turks. But in God's thinking, that did not end the Roman Empire. It will be revived in the latter days, according to Dan. 9:24-27. It will be smashed by God and His King at the return of Christ (Rev. 19:11-21) and His establishment of His Kingdom (Psa. 2:4-12; Isa. 2:1-4; Ezek. 40:1-48:35; Zech. 14:1-21; Rev. 20:1-6). For a full discussion of the Dream, see Nebuchadnezzar's Statue Dream.

your bed. ⁸¹ 2:28e

- H 2 The king was pondering the future: {29} "As for you, O king, while on your bed your thoughts turned to what would take place in the future; ⁸² 2:29a
- H 3 God will reveal to the king what will take place: and He who reveals mysteries has made known to you what will take place. ⁸³ 2:29b
- G 4 His explanation of the reason God revealed the meaning of the dream to Daniel 2:30

 - H 2 It is because God wishes to explain matters to the king
 - J 1 The interpretation: but for the purpose of making the interpretation known to the king, ⁸⁵
 - J 2 The king's thoughts: and that you may understand the thoughts of your mind.

⁸⁴ Dan. 2:30 - wisdom residing in me more than in any other living man: Daniel was a man of humility and character. He sought to deflect away from himself any attention or honor.

⁸² Dan. 2:29 - what would take place in the future: If the previous detail was an educated guess, this was an impossible guess! Who could have known, apart from revelation, that Nebuchadnezzar was actually pondering the future when God spoke to him by means of this dream?

⁸³ Dan. 2:29 - what will take place: The God of heaven, observing the most powerful king on the face of the earth pondering the future, determined to reveal to him the course of human events and kingdoms. He also chose to reveal the ultimate kingdom that would displace all merely human kingdoms! God wants the world to know the future and the One who molds the future!

 $^{^{85}}$ Dan. 2:30 - making the interpretation known to the king: Daniel was correct. It was obvious that God wanted to reveal to the most powerful king in all the earth the future course of events that God would bring to pass. God considered it important that – through Nebuchadnezzar – all the earth would come to know God's plans for the governance of the earth.

⁸⁶ Dan. 2:31 - a single great statue: God sometimes communicates with symbols and riddles. He has used dreams and visions to communicate with man. When Jesus came, He frequently used parables (word pictures) to communicate. God has communicated to man through prophets. God has communicated extensively through written documents (OT and NT). God's most special communication has been through His SON (Heb. 1:1-2).

As it turns out, this statue was the image of a man. He represented kings ruling over human kingdoms. But ultimately God's kingdom would prevail over merely human kingdoms.

God wants to communicate directly with you, the reader. Are you listening?

⁸⁷ Dan. 2:31 - large: We are not told how large the statue was. But judging by the statue Nebuchadnezzar erected subsequently, it must have appeared to be enormous (see Dan. 3:1).

⁸⁹ Dan. 2:33 - feet partly of iron and partly of clay: The interpretation identified only four human kingdoms, not five. But inasmuch as there was a distinction between legs of iron and feet of iron mixed with clay, we as interpreters determine that there will be a great span of time between the initial appearance of the fourth kingdom and its final appearance.

Finally, the stone became a mountain which dwarfed what had been the statue (the human kingdoms). Furthermore, the stone that became a mountain filled the entire earth. In other words, it became a truly global kingdom that dwarfed the previous human kingdoms and utterly replaced the void left behind by them.

⁹¹ Dan. 2:34 - crushed them: I.e., crushed the feet of iron and clay. Christ, when He returns in the "latter days," will crush the end-time manifestation of the fourth empire.

⁹³ Dan. 2:35 - not a trace of them was found: Every element of human empires will be obliterated when Christ establishes His kingdom. No trace of merely human empires will exist. Under Christ there will be no vestige left of Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism, or Animism. There will be no communism, no socialism, no democracy, no republic. There will be no separation of church and state. The rule of Christ will incorporate the law of God, and there will be no congress whose approval must be sought. Every bit of the Babylonian, Medo-Persian, Greek, or Roman Empires will be blown away. Only Christ and His Kingdom will be left. All peoples will be subordinate to Him.

 $^{^{90}}$ Dan. 2:34 - a stone was cut out without hands: The emphasis on the stone was not its metallic or non-metallic composition, but on its origin and its action and its end.

As to its origin, the stone was "cut out" of a non-specified rock face or source, but without the instrumentality of any "hands." In other words, its appearance on the scene of human history was not of human origin. Presumably, then, its appearance was of Divine origin.

As to its action, it smashed the statue, representing the best of man's kingdoms, on the feet and utterly demolished the feet of iron and clay. Not only so but it demolished any vestige of the preceding kingdoms, all of which, in some way, were built upon the preceding kingdom.

⁹⁶ Dan. 2:37 - to whom the God of heaven has given the kingdom, etc.: This was a startling revelation, and one which may have made Daniel somewhat nervous to convey to this king. From the king's point of view, he was born a son to Nabopolassar. As head of his father's army, he had defeated the armies of Egypt and Assyria at the Battle of Carchemish in 605 BC. At his father's death, he had claimed the crown. He would easily think that he had earned the right to rule over the kingdom which he had inherited. How could it be said that some foreign god, whose people he had conquered in 605 BC, had given him his kingdom? His own name reflected one of his own gods – Nabu. Was his god not superior to the gods of all whom he had conquered? Yet Daniel was asking him to believe that his God, the God of heaven, had given Nebuchadnezzar the throne! The only thing that could persuade Nebuchadnezzar to believe Daniel was that Daniel's god was able to reveal the mystery of his dream – something that, admittedly, no human had been able to reveal!

As the rest of Daniel divulges, while Nebuchadnezzar was prepared to acknowledge Daniel's god as a revealer of mysteries (Dan. 2:47), he was singularly unprepared to believe the content of the revealed mystery. The image ⁹⁴ Dan. 2:35 - the stone that struck the statue became a great mountain that filled the whole earth: The merely human kingdoms were represented by an enormous statue of a man. But the stone, representing Christ, not only destroyed the statue, but became an enormous mountain. Mountains in OT Scripture symbolize governments. But this was no ordinary government. This government, the government of the Messiah, will destroy all human kingdoms, and it will take over the entire earth. It will be the sole government of the entire earth. All peoples and ethnic groups will be ruled by Jesus Christ!

⁹⁸ Dan. 2:38 - has caused you to rule over them all: Whatever king (or ruler by any other title) exists, governs by the authority and cause of God (Rom. 13:1-7). This even applies to brutal dictators and monsters such as Genghis Khan, Adolf Hitler, Joseph Stalin, Mao Zedong, Pol Pot, and Kim Jong-il.

Nebuchadnezzar would build as described in Daniel 3:1 was entirely of gold, a bold statement that his own empire would last forever and never be defeated. This belief flatly contradicted what his dream had stated. Further events would modify Nebuchadnezzar's arrogance and pride (Dan. 3:1-30; 4:1-37). In the end, his faith in Daniel's God would be strikingly modified!

⁹⁷ Dan. 2:38 - wherever the sons of men dwell ... beasts ... birds ... He has given them into your hand: God gave Nebuchadnezzar complete authority over the regions he conquered. This statement by Daniel does not mean that Nebuchadnezzar ruled the entire globe. But no one anywhere was greater in power than Nebuchadnezzar. In Biblical thinking, Israel is the epicenter of the world, and Nebuchadnezzar ruled all of that part of the world.

In Jeremiah 27:1-15, God, through Jeremiah, instructed the kings of Edom, Moab, Ammon, Tyre, Sidon, and Judah to submit to the king of Babylon, for God had given their lands into his hand. God even called Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, his servant, and stated that He had given "the wild animals of the field" and "all the nations" to serve him (Jer. 27:6-7). Nebuchadnezzar was fulfilling God's mandate that made man ruler over the animals (Gen. 1:26).

⁹⁹ Dan. 2:38 - You are the head of gold: Nebuchadnezzar was the ruler of the first kingdom, the kingdom of Neo Babylonia. Though other kingdoms that followed would be larger, their rulers would wield less power and authority than Nebuchadnezzar.

 - H 1 Its iron-like strength and crushing characteristics 2:40
 - J 1 The rise of a fourth kingdom: {40} "Then there will be a fourth kingdom
 - J 2 Its chief characteristic strength: as strong as iron; ¹⁰³
 - J 3 The capacity of iron to demolish:

¹⁰¹ Dan. 2:39 - third kingdom: This third kingdom is the kingdom of Greece, whose initial conquests were achieved by Alexander the Great. In 330 BC Alexander conquered Persepolis, the last important city of the Achaemenid Empire. It is from this date that we mark the beginning of the Greek Empire. The abdomen and thighs of bronze represent a kingdom whose power was decidedly less imperial than either of its two predecessors. The presence of democracy in Greece, and the rapid division of Alexander's empire, following his death, into four segments under his generals Cassander, Lysimachus, Ptolemy and Seleucus, illustrate the inferior quality of the Grecian Empire, even though it occupied more territory than either of the preceding two. We date the Greek Empire from 330 BC - 63 BC.

¹⁰⁰ Dan. 2:39 - another kingdom inferior to you: The inferior kingdom that would replace Babylon would be the combined kingdom of Media-Persia, represented by the chest and two arms of silver. Cyrus the Great (evidently identified as Darius the Mede in the Bible), conquered Babylon in 539 BC (Dan. 5:30-31). The kingdom of Medo-Persia lasted from 539 BC to 330 BC. The authority of the Medes and the Persians was less than that of Nebuchadnezzar. The King himself was powerless to revoke or alter a statute once signed into law (Dan. 6:8, 12, 15). For more information about Darius the Mede, see Nebuchadnezzar's Statue Dream, 539-330 BC. If we were restricted to Daniel 2, it would be difficult to identify the second, third, and fourth kingdoms. But the second (Medo-Persia – Dan. 5:28; 6:8, 12, 15, 28; 8:20; 10:1, 13, 20; 11:2) and third (Greece – Dan. 8:21; 10:20; 11:2) kingdoms are identified by name. Therefore it is not difficult to identify the fourth kingdom – Rome.

¹⁰³ Dan. 2:40 - as strong as iron: The metal of the fourth kingdom is iron, which illustrates two things. First, the imperial quality of the empire has been lessened. The emperors of Rome were forced to deal with the vagaries of the Roman Senate. Julius Caesar, for example, was assassinated by a coalition of senators. Second, Daniel here emphasizes the strength of the metal. The Roman Empire, even in the relatively short-lived West, far outlasted its predecessors, from 63 BC - AD 476. In the East, the Empire survived from 63 BC - AD 1453, fully 1500 years! It is possible that the two thighs represent the division of the Roman Empire into West and East.

 - J 2 The significance of the mixture division: it will be a divided kingdom; ¹⁰⁶
 - J 3 The significance of the iron durability: but it will have in it the toughness of iron, inasmuch as you saw the iron mixed with common clay.
- H 3 The partly strong, partly brittle nature of the kingdom (toes and feet part iron and part pottery) 2:42

¹⁰⁶ Dan. 2:41 - a divided kingdom: The Old Roman Empire was divided between East and West. That was true not only geographically, but religiously. Roman Catholicism predominantly captured the hearts of the Western half of the Roman Empire, while Eastern Orthodoxy predominantly captured the hearts of the Eastern portion of the Roman Empire. I believe the same will be true of the Revived Roman Empire is Christianity dissolving into secular humanism. But the Eastern and Southern portion of this eschatological, Revived Roman Empire is based on Islam. And the form of Islam is increasingly less secular and more fundamentalist. I believe that trend will continue. I believe that secular humanism and fundamentalist Islam will join forces as the time grows nearer for the Revived Roman Empire. It is already happening as elements of Europe and the United States, with bewildering logic, beginning with the "Arab Spring," have attempted to prop up fundamentalist Islamic regimes in Northern Africa and now Syria.

- J 1 A further comment on the mixture of iron and pottery: {42} "As the toes of the feet were partly of iron and partly of pottery,
- J 2 A further characteristic of the mixture: so some of the kingdom will be strong and part of it will be brittle.¹⁰⁷
- H 4 The absence of cohesion in the kingdom (iron and clay pottery don't mix) 2:43
 - J 1 Yet another comment on the mixture of iron and pottery: {43} "And in that you saw the iron mixed with common clay, ¹⁰⁸
 - J 2 The first significance organizational unity: they will combine with one another in the seed of men; ¹⁰⁹
 - J 3 The second significance organic

 $^{^{107}}$ Dan. 2:42 - strong ... brittle: The Revived Roman Empire will be characterized by enormous political clout. But the religious forces that oppose each other – the secularism on the one hand, and the fundamentalist Islam on the other, will be constantly straining at each other. In the end, the coalition will break apart (see Rev. 17:16 - 18:24).

¹⁰⁸ Dan. 2:43 - iron mixed with common clay: The presence of clay is not to be taken as soft clay, but as fired clay – baked pottery, or, more precisely, tile, for which Babylon was famous. Tiles and iron do not mix. What they share in common is hardness. But while iron is virtually unbreakable, fired clay tiles are brittle – they will break. And the two disparate substances of iron and clay will not adhere to one another.

Some conservative commentators, such as Á. C. Gaebelein and H. A. Ironside, interpret the mixture of iron and ceramic tiles as an attempted union of democracy and imperialism. There is something to be said for that. Even in my lifetime U. S. Presidents George W. Bush and Barack Obama held forth the notion that a democratic form of government could be imposed on countries as diverse as Afghanistan, Iraq, Egypt, Libya, and Syria. But both presidents greatly miscalculated the palatability of any sort of democracy to the theocratic, despotic rulers of the Muslim world.

If we are as close to a Revived Roman Empire as I think we are, I suspect the mixture of iron and clay tiles is more likely an attempted union between the secular humanism of the West (Europe) and Islam of the Middle East and North Africa – the approximate extent of the ancient Roman Empire. Indeed, Bat Ye'or, in her insightful book, Eurabia: The Euro-Arab Axis, details the decades-long conspiracy of European and Arab leaders to unite Europe with the Arab world. That is the only way the old Roman Empire can be revived. And revived it will be. But for that to happen, Europe will have to convert, at least nominally, to Islam. I believe that is exactly the scenario envisioned in John's vision of the seven-headed, ten-horned scarlet beast being ridden by a voluptuous Prostitute clothed in scarlet and purple, and named, of all things, "Babylon the Great" (Rev. 17:1-5). It is worth noting that the Prostitute is "drunk with the blood of the saints and with the blood of the witnesses of Jesus" (Rev. 17:6). That is quite in keeping with the policy of fundamentalist Muslims to attack Christians.

¹⁰⁹ Dan. 2:43 - they will combine with one another in the seed of men: For a time the Western (Revived Roman Empire) government will tolerate fundamentalist Islam around the world, if my analysis is correct. My basis for saying so is the scenario envisioned in Revelation 17:1-13. The benefit to the non-Muslims in the European / Middle Eastern / Northern Africa coalition is access to oil and commerce. The price for the non-Muslims is dhimmitude (subservience) toward Islam.

 - J 1 The animating force behind the kingdom: {44} "In the days of those kings ¹¹¹ the God of heaven will set up a kingdom ¹¹²
 - J 2 The indestructibility of the kingdom: which will never be destroyed, ¹¹³

¹¹¹ Dan. 2:44 - in the days of those kings: This is probably not a reference to the kings of the first, second, third, and fourth empires, but rather to the ten kings indicated by the ten toes – the ten contemporaneous kings who are alive when the stone strikes the feet of the statue. Though Daniel's interpretation of Nebuchadnezzar's dream (Dan. 2:36-45) does not specifically mention ten kings, ten kings are mentioned in Dan. 7:24 and in Rev. 17:12. In the latter passage ten kings receive authority to reign with the beast (the world ruler also known as "the Antichrist" – 1 John 4:3) for "one hour" (a brief period of time).

This world ruler is also to be identified with the "little horn" (Dan. 7:8); "the prince who is to come" (Dan. 9:26-27); "the king (who) will do as he pleases" (Dan. 11:36); "the man of lawlessness" (2 Thess. 2:3); "that lawless one" (2 Thess. 2:8); the "beast coming up out of the sea" (Rev. 13:1); "the beast which was and is not" (Rev. 17:11-12) "and is about to come up out of the abyss" (Rev. 17:8); and "the beast" (Rev. 19:19, 20; 20:10).

¹¹² Dan. 2:44 - the God of heaven will set up a kingdom: What is the nature of the kingdom which God will set up, and when will He do so? Amillennialists and some Postmillennialists believe that the kingdom is a spiritual kingdom only, and that God set it up at Christ's First Advent. The difficulty with that view is that the Roman Empire lasted hundreds of years after Christ came. Furthermore, the vestiges of all the preceding kingdoms, with their immorality, hubris, and enmity toward God and His Messiah are very much with us today, and growing stronger. How can it be said in any complete and final sense that Christ's Kingdom has destroyed the kingdoms of the world?

A better interpretation is that offered by Premillennialists, that Christ will destroy the kingdoms of this world when He returns at His Second Advent. This, after all, is precisely the scenario depicted in such passages as Zechariah 14:1-21; Matthew 24:27 - 25:46; 2 Thess. 1:6-10; and Rev. 19:11 - 20:6.

¹¹³ Dan. 2:44 - which will never be destroyed: Each of the merely human kingdoms will be destroyed. When Christ returns, He will destroy the Final Form of the Revived Roman Empire and all opposition. Jesus will establish His "Kingdom of the Heavens" (Matt. 3:2; 4:17; 6:10; 10:7) here upon earth, and it will last for a thousand years (Rev. 20:1-6). Satan will be bound for the duration of Christ's Millennial Kingdom (Rev. 20:1-3). He will be released from the abyss for a brief time at the conclusion of Christ's thousand-year reign (Rev. 20:7). He will succeed in deceiving great numbers of people all over the world, and they and he will attempt to revolt against the King. They will not succeed. Fire will descend from heaven and destroy all the rebels. Satan will be cast into the Lake of Fire (Rev. 20:7-10). God will destroy the existing Heavens and Earth (2 Pet. 3:7-12; Rev. 20:11). He will judge all the wicked dead of all the ages (Rev. 20:11-15). He will create New Heavens and New Earth (Isa. 65:17; 66:22; 2 Pet. 3:13; Rev. 21:1). God and Jesus will reign as co-regents from their throne in New Jerusalem in connection with New Earth. It will be an eternal reign (Rev. 22:3-5), with evil forever excluded (Rev. 21:8, 27;

¹¹⁵ Dan. 2:45 - a stone was cut out of the mountain without hands: This means that the Kingdom of the Messiah, unlike the human kingdoms that preceded it, is entirely the doing of God, not man.

¹¹⁶ Dan. 2:45 - the dream is true and its interpretation is trustworthy: From the beginning, the king had insisted that his wise men disclose to him both the content of the dream and its interpretation. Only Daniel, through the revelation given to him by God, had been able to disclose both the content and the interpretation of the dream to Nebuchadnezzar. Here he declares to the king that both are accurate and trustworthy. The king does not doubt him!

¹¹⁴ Dan. 2:44 - it will crush and put and end to all these kingdoms: Thomas Constable aptly states:

If the stone from heaven represents the kingdom of God thoroughly destroying all earthly kingdoms when Messiah comes, as seems true, then it appears inconsistent to view that kingdom as beginning with Christ's first coming. Rather, it fits better Christ's second coming. If so, the establishment of God's kingdom on earth must begin with Christ's second coming, not His first coming. This is the view of normative dispensationalists, in contrast to progressive dispensationalists and historic premillennialists. These latter two groups see the church as the first stage in the kingdom of God, the second stage being the millennial reign of Christ.

The Hebrew equivalent (sagad, 5456) is used in Isa. 44:15, 17, 17, 19; 46:6. It has the same idea of falling down or bowing down as an act of worship. In Isaiah it only refers to the worship of idols, or false gods.

¹²⁰ Dan. 2:47 - a Lord of kings: It is one thing to say this, another to live by it. As it turned out, Nebuchadnezzar did not live by what he had said. In Daniel 3:1 the king soon built a reproduction of the image he had seen in his dreams. But instead of building the head of gold, the breast and arms of silver, the belly and thighs of bronze, the lower legs of iron, and the feet of iron mixed with clay, he built the entire statue of gold! In other words, he denied the revelation from Daniel's God and attempted instead to redirect history so that his empire would last forever! He certainly made no provision in his building for a stone that would destroy and replace his statue! Nebuchadnezzar had faith in Daniel's God as a revealer of mysteries, but not a God to be obeyed!

¹²¹ Dan. 2:47 - a revealer of mysteries: When all is said and done, this seems to be the level of Nebuchadnezzar's faith in Daniel's God – he believed in Daniel's God as a revealer of mysteries. But he did not believe in Daniel's God as a God to be obeyed. Nebuchadnezzar did not wish Daniel's God to be his Lord. He wished to be lord over his own destiny! God would have more to say to Nebuchadnezzar. Would he listen?

The word "did homage" (segid, 5457), means, according to BDB, to prostrate oneself in worship. It is doubtful that Nebuchadnezzar was worshiping Daniel. It is more likely that he was acknowledging the supremacy of Daniel's God. This same word is used frequently in Daniel, most often in connection with prostrating oneself before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had erected. Here are the uses of segid, an Aramaic word used only in Daniel: Dan. 2:46; 3:5, 6, 7, 10, 11, 12, 14, 15, 15, 18, 28. In each case there is the idea of prostrating oneself. In Dan. 3:28, Nebuchadnezzar used this word in regard to Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego worshiping "their own God."

¹²³ Dan. 3:1 - the king made an image: We are not told the shape or likeness of the image. But in view of the proximity of Daniel 3 to Daniel 2, the implication is given that this was Nebuchadnezzar's reproduction of the image he had seen in his dream – the image of a man. If, perhaps, the image were something other than a man, its significance, in the mind of the king, would not have been diminished. It was about him and his kingdom.

- G 2 Its substance: of gold, ¹²⁴

 - H 7 the magistrates

¹²⁶ Dan. 3:1 - plain of Dura: Dura means "fortification." There were many such places, but this was probably not too far from the city of Babylon proper.

¹²⁷ Dan. 3:2 - satraps, etc.: According to Keil, as summarized by Constable,

The "satraps" were the highest political officials in each province. The "prefects" (princes) were military chiefs. The "governors" (captains) were heads of sections of the provinces. The "counselors" (advisers, judges) were high-ranking judges. The "treasurers" were superintendents of the treasury. The "judges" (counselors) were secondary judges, and the "magistrates" (sheriffs) were lower level legal officials. The "rulers" (officials) were subordinates of the satraps.

¹²⁸ Dan. 3:2 - all the rulers of the provinces: It is clear from this list of officials that they were summoned from all over the empire to attend the dedication of Nebuchadnezzar's image. This was meant to be a statement of allegiance by all those present to Nebuchadnezzar himself. That it had some religious significance became clear also, but primarily it was to be a political test. To fail to pass this test meant capital punishment.

¹²⁹ Dan. 3:4 - peoples, nations ... language: The diversity of this crowd from all over the empire is evident in these descriptive terms Nebuchadnezzar used.

- ¹³⁶ Dan. 3:5 all kinds of music: This sounds like a Babylonian orchestra.

¹³⁸ Dan. 3:6 - furnace: Scholars believe this was a brick kiln, of which there were many in Babylon, used in firing bricks to be used in the extensive building projects. In the mind of Nebuchadnezzar cooperating in this act of worship was a pledge of loyalty to him and his reign. Failure to participate in the pledge was tantamount to treason, punishable by death.

 - E 1 The source of the accusation: {8} For this reason at that time certain Chaldeans came forward and brought charges against the Jews. ¹³⁹ 3:8

¹³⁹ Dan. 3:8 - certain Chaldeans ... brought charges against the Jews: One detects an under-current of anti-Semitism here. Undoubtedly the native Chaldeans were only too happy to bring charges against these highly-placed Jewish officials in the Babylonian government. They were the opposite of today's Democratic party loyalists, who will almost always defend their own, even in the face of the most egregious behavior.

Today, Christians must be willing, in certain areas, to be non-conformists. The pressure is always strong to do what everyone else does, even if conforming violates God's standards. But Christians must be willing to be different when the occasion demands. This is especially difficult for young people, who desire above all to fit in with their peers. But even for adults, it can be extremely difficult to choose between conforming to our culture and conforming to God's standards. The Apostle John admonishes us,

^{15} Do not love the world nor the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him. {16} For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes and the boastful pride of life, is not from the Father, but is from the world. {17} The world is passing away, and also its lusts; but the one who does the will of God lives forever.  - G 4 Their disrespect: These men, O king, have disregarded you; ¹⁴²

¹⁴¹ Dan. 3:12 - Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego: These three men (evidently Daniel was on a mission elsewhere) resisted the temptation to conform to the huge crowd and compromise their core convictions.

¹⁴² Dan. 3:12 - have disregarded you: This appeared to be true, but was not really true. You could not find a more loyal, hard-working, trustworthy trio of men than Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego. But if you asked them to violate their loyalty to God, they could not, and would not.

¹⁴⁶ Dan. 3:14 - serve ... worship: The king linked serving his gods with worshiping his image.

¹⁴⁷ Dan. 3:15 - if you are ready: The fact that these men were high officials in his government, and probably known to him on a personal basis, evidently influenced the king to give them a second chance.

¹⁴⁴ Dan. 3:12 - or worship the golden image you have set up: There was a linkage here between prostrating oneself before Nebuchadnezzar's image, worshiping his gods, and disrespecting him.

¹⁴⁸ Dan. 3:15 - what god is there who can deliver you out of my hands: The king did what a great many people today do – he compartmentalized his religious beliefs from his day-to-day living. We have our God or gods over here in this box, but any educated person knows God is powerless to interfere with his own decisions and daily activities. I once talked with a young man from China who was pursuing advanced education in the U. S. We talked about God and creation. I was making the case that God's account of His creation of the world was incompatible both with the teaching of evolution and with the actual facts of the case. He protested that religion and science should not be forcibly mixed. He was compartmentalizing his religious world and his scientific world. That will never work. If one's view of God and his view of science cannot be harmonized, one or more views is wrong. My Chinese acquaintance made the same mistake Nebuchadnezzar made!

¹⁴⁹ Dan. 3:16 - we do not need to give you an answer:

[&]quot;We" is emphatic in the original text and implies a contrast with Yahweh. God would give the king an answer. Perhaps they meant that Nebuchadnezzar should have had no question about their loyalty to him. They did not need to argue that. Surely the king knew that their faith prohibited them from worshiping any god but Yahweh. They were known to be Jews (1:6-7). (Constable.)

¹⁵² Dan. 3:18 - If ... not: They believed God could and would deliver them. However, if He chose not to, they were not going to compromise their loyalty to God with their loyalty to the king. They would suffer the consequences rather than be disloyal to God. God's refusal to help them, should He refuse, would not alter their faith in Him, nor their obedience to Him. Their commitment level is remarkable and commendable. It is an example for us all to follow!

- E 6 The death of the warriors: {22} For this reason, because the king's command was urgent and the furnace had been made extremely hot, the flame of the fire slew ¹⁵⁴ those men who carried up Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego. 3:22

¹⁵⁴ Dan. 3:22 - slew: There could be no doubt in anyone's mind that the fire was hot. The valiant warriors who three the three men in were overcome by the heat and perished!

¹⁵⁵ Dan. 3:25 - loosed: There were two obstacles the men had overcome – the heat and the bonds with which they had been bound. The latter had burned up in the intense heat, allowing the men to walk about freely in the flames. Not only were the men unharmed by the flames, the flames had selectively burned off the bonds which restricted them!

¹⁵⁶ Dan. 3:25 - the appearance of the fourth is like a son of the gods: Literally, "like a son of gods." Most likely the fourth individual was an angel of some sort. He looked like a man, but supernatural glory emanated from him. It is possible, in fact, I think, rather likely that this angel was none other than "The Angel of Yahweh," the pre-incarnate Christ, but we cannot know for certain. It is worth noting that in 3:28 Nebuchadnezzar acknowledged that God had sent His angel or messenger (Aram. malak, 4398). Presumably he would have concluded this after conversing with the three unharmed victims.

- G 1 His approach: {26} Then Nebuchadnezzar came near to the door of the furnace of blazing fire;

 - H 2 Their hair was not singed: nor was the hair of their head singed, ¹⁵⁹

¹⁵⁷ Dan. 3:26 - servants of the Most High God: Nebuchadnezzar is a polytheist. Here he acknowledges that the God whom Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego served was the highest of all gods. That would include all the gods Nebuchadnezzar worshiped. Earlier, the king had acknowledged that Daniel's God was the "God of gods." This statement confirms his previous statement, and explicitly states the supremacy of the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego.

¹⁵⁸ Dan. 3:27 - king's high officials: The king had a great number of officials around to verify and document this astounding miracle!

¹⁵⁹ Dan. 3:27 - nor was the hair of their head singed: Hair is one of the first casualties of burning flesh. Not a hair of the men had been damaged! This was truly a remarkable miracle! One of the things required to believe in the God of the Bible is to believe in supernaturalism. A great many people, including liberal Bible scholars, deny the existence of the supernatural. Thus, they try to explain away the miracles of the Bible, the predictive nature of many prophecies in the Bible, the date of composition of many books of the Bible, the facts of creation as described in the Bible, and the globally devastating nature of Noah's Flood.

- H 3 Their clothes were undamaged: nor were their trousers damaged,

- D 5 Nebuchadnezzar's law against blaspheming the God of Israel 3:28-30

 - E 3 God's deliverance of His servants: and delivered His servants 3:28c
 - G 1 Who trusted in God: who put their trust in Him,
 - G 2 Who violated the king's command: violating the king's command, ¹⁶³
 - G 3 Who sacrificed their bodies: and yielded up their bodies ¹⁶⁴

¹⁶² Dan. 3:28 - sent His angel: The king likely took his cue from more detailed conversation with the three survivors. Angel is the Aramaic malak (4398). Like its Hebrew and Greek counterparts, it means, strictly, "messenger." This may have been a special angel, the Angel of Yahweh, but we cannot be certain. The text does not give us enough evidence to make a decisive determination.

¹⁶³ Dan. 3:28 - violating the king's command: There may come times when we have to violate the king's command in order to follow the laws of God. Then we, like Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, must be prepared to endure the consequences, all the while hoping for God's miraculous deliverance.

 $^{^{160}}$ Dan. 3:27 - smell of fire: It is most remarkable that this miracle was so complete that there was not even the smell of smoke upon the men or their clothing!

¹⁶¹ Dan. 3:28 - Blessed: Earlier Nebuchadnezzar had treated God with contempt. He had built his own image in opposition to the revelation given to him by God. When the three men had been brought before him, he had reaffirmed his intention to cast them into the furnace if they would no comply. He had said, "and what god is there who can deliver you out of my hands?" (Dan. 3:15). Now instead of defying their God, he is blessing their God! What a remarkable turn of events!

 $^{^{164}}$ Dan. 3:28 - yielded up their bodies: The three men had been willing to sacrifice their lives to maintain their loyalty to and integrity toward God. The king commends them for their commitment. We, too, are asked to yield up our bodies, not as a dead sacrifice, but as a living sacrifice to God (Rom. 12:1). Our motivation is based not on fear, but on "the mercies of God" – all that God has done for us (as detailed in Romans 1-11). In the same passage, we are prohibited from being "conformed to this world" (Rom. 12:2). That is where we struggle. We desperately resist being "different." We want to be just like the people around us. And too often we compromise our walk with God to gain acceptability from the world. How sad!

¹⁶⁵ Dan. 3:28 - so as not to serve or worship any god except their own God: God's Word tells us we must love the LORD our God with all our heart, soul, and might (Deut. 6:5; Matt. 22:37; Mark 12:30; Luke 10:27). These men were extraordinary examples of virtue in that regard!

¹⁶⁶ Dan. 3:29 - speaks anything offensive against: Nebuchadnezzar could not and would not stipulate that all must worship their God, but he could decree that no one blaspheme the God of Israel in any way. This is truly a remarkable edict for a polytheistic king. His perception of the God of Israel has now advanced beyond what it was at the conclusion of Daniel 2.

¹⁶⁷ Dan. 3:29 - torn limb from limb: This king was quick to mete out capital punishment. I think what he was doing was protecting Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego from religious ridicule. In a way he was guarding against Anti-Semitism. I say that because one cannot despise Jewish people without despising the Jewish God. My interpretation is strengthened by the king's subsequent promotion of the trio.

This whole narrative is a remarkable account of God's Sovereign protection of His people. These were Jewish men whose country had been obliterated by King Nebuchadnezzar at the behest of God (Jer. 27:1-15; Dan. 1:1-2). They had been carried into exile as prisoners of war to serve Nebuchadnezzar (Dan. 1:3-7). And yet these men, along with their compatriot, Daniel, had faithfully honored God when by all odds they should have succumbed to the world around them. Because of their integrity, God blessed them and elevated them in the affairs of state of the Babylonian

¹⁷⁰ Dan. 4:1 - declare the signs and wonders which the Most High God has done for me: "Signs and wonders" refer to miraculous events which signify something. "...[T]he main lesson of the chapter is the sovereignty of Yahweh over the greatest human sovereign in the world (cf. vv. 17, 18, 22, 24, 25, 26, 30, 31, 32, 34, 36, 37)." (Constable). "Most High God" refers to Yahweh, the God of Daniel and Israel. The designation "Most High" in relation to God appears 13X in Daniel – in 3:26; 4:2, 17, 24, 25, 32, 34; 5:18, 21; 7:18, 22, 25, 27. In the NASB it is translated variously "the Most High God"; "the Most High"; or "the Highest One" (Constable).

Empire. God is Sovereign over nations, and He is Sovereign over individual people. "And without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he who comes to God must believe that He is and that He is a reader of those who seek Him" (Heb. 11:6).

¹⁷¹ Dan. 4:3 - His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom. This pagan king (whom we may see in heaven) understood that God's kingdom is eternal. In the next breath he declared that there is never a time in the history of man when God is not ruling. That has always been true and will always be true. Having said that, it is not accurate to say, as do Amillennialists, Postmillennialists, some Historical Premillennialists, and even Progressive Dispensationalists, that we are presently, in any sense, existing during Christ's Millennial Kingdom. We cannot be, for the King is absent from the Earth (Psa. 2:6; Zech. 14:9; Luke 19:11-27), He is not ruling the nations with a rod of iron, nor has He smashed them like pottery on the ground (Psa. 2:8-9; Psa. 110:1-3, 5-7). Even His own people, the Israelis, do not accept His legitimacy (John 1:11). The nations are in rebellion against God and against His anointed King (Psa. 2:1-3). Jesus Christ is presently seated at the right hand of the Father as Priest after the order of Melchizedek, not as King after the order of David (Psa. 110:4; Heb. 5:5-10; Heb. 6:19-20; 7:1-28; 8:1-6; 9:11-15; 10:12-14, 19-23). While He serves as priest, He is presently waiting until He can receive His kingdom (Psa. 110:1-3; Luke 19:11-12; Heb. 10:12-13).

 - H 3 His theological distinction: and in whom is a spirit of the holy gods; ¹⁷⁷ and I related the dream to him, saying,
 - G 2 His compliments to Daniel 4:9a

¹⁷⁶ Dan. 4:8 - according to the name of my god: The king does not say "my former god." He was a polytheist, but there was a trend toward monotheism in his reign. Did he add Yahweh to his pantheon of gods? Or did he finally come to believe that there was only one supreme God. There are some tantalizing details missing here.

¹⁷⁴ Dan. 4:7 - they could not make its interpretation known to me: We are only told the bare facts, but no details. Did the wise men even attempt to give an interpretation? Did they feel that honesty was the best policy and admit they were unable to interpret the dream? Or did they attempt an explanation but somehow the king was unconvinced that their interpretation was accurate. In any event, in the king's telling, at least, his treatment of his wise men was more benign than at the previous dream!

¹⁷⁷ Dan. 4:8 - in whom is a spirit of the holy gods: We are not exactly certain as to what Nebuchadnezzar meant. Certainly he believed there was a qualitative difference in Daniel and in Daniel's gods in contrast to his own magicians and his own god. Both the adjective "holy" and the noun "gods" appear in the plural. That certainly lends credence to the notion that Nebuchadnezzar was yet a polytheist at this point. Yet there is ambiguity in the Hebrew designation "God," "Elohim," which appears in the plural. OT scholars today insist "Elohim" is a "plural of majesty," but how was a foreign king to be that theologically astute? The word "holy" is qaddish (6922), an Aramaic word translated in the NASB variously as "holy," "holy one(s)", or "saints" in Daniel 4:5, 6, 10, 14, 15, 20; 5:11; 7:18, 21, 22, 22, 25, 27. (The English references in Daniel 4 are 4:8, 9, 13, 17, 18, 23.) Did Nebuchadnezzar understand that Daniel served a God or Gods who were morally, spiritually, and ethically pure? Or was he simply acknowledging that Daniel's God or Gods were unique and set apart, able to do things no other God or gods could do, such as reveal the future, and impose restrictions on Nebuchadnezzar? In that he referred to Daniel's God several times as "the Most High (Dan. 3:26; 4:2, 34)," the latter meaning seems preferable.

 $^{^{179}}$ Dan. 4:13 - watcher: The Aramaic word is ir (5894), used only three times in the OT, all of them in this chapter (4:10, 14, 20 – in English, 4:13, 17, 23). From Nebuchadnezzar's point of view this being was someone watching over the affairs of men. It was an angel, sent by God with a message for the king. The editors of the NASB have included, in italics, the word "angelic" to demonstrate their belief that the "watcher" was an angel. While I have no difficulty in subscribing to their interpretation, I believe it would have been better if they had consigned their interpretation to a footnote rather than incorporating it into the translation.

¹⁸³ Dan. 4:17 - the Most High is ruler over the realm of mankind: God is the total Sovereign. Without being in any sense responsible for the evil decisions men make, God dictates the course of human events. Nebuchadnezzar operated under the presumption that he alone was in charge of his kingdom. God would shortly show him that his sovereignty as king was entirely delegated from God, not earned or inherited. God, not man, is in control. The arrogant think they are in control. They are not!

¹⁸⁴ Dan. 4:17 - And bestows it on whom He wishes: God authorized Nebuchadnezzar to be king of Babylon. God explicitly gave the nations surrounding Judah and Judah itself into Nebuchadnezzar's grasp (Jer. 27:1-22). God called Nebuchadnezzar His servant, and even gave him the wild animals of the field to serve him (Jer. 27:6)!

¹⁸⁵ Dan. 4:17 - And sets over it the lowliest of men: Two ideas are present here -(1) God chooses (elects) to place into office those whom He wishes to place in office. (2) Those rulers may think they themselves are very special people, God looks at them as being the lowliest and least significant of people compared to Himself.

A great many people detest the idea of election in any part of human life, but especially in regards to salvation. They think it utterly unfair that God should choose certain people to be saved. But their problem is really that of pride. They have a highly inflated opinion of themselves and their own virtue and own ability. They actually have the temerity to believe that, if left to themselves, they would have chosen God on their own. And because they have an inflated view of their part in the process, they redefine God's election as being merely the quality of foreknowledge. By that they define election as meaning only that God knew in advance the humans who would choose Him and who would not. In so believing, they actually demean God. They make Him a helpless bystander subject to the whims of human choice. The testimony of Scripture is that, given the opportunity, even unencumbered with a sin nature, man will inevitably choose against God, not for Him (Gen. 3:1-7)! Nebuchadnezzar finally learned the hard lesson that it is God who chooses men. Men only choose God because God has first chosen them! For a further discussion of God's election as it relates to salvation, go to "God's Part in Salvation – Election."

¹⁸² Dan. 4:17 - holy ones: The Aramaic word is qaddish ($\underline{6922}$), used previously in 4:13 in the singular, here in the plural. It is a synonym for angels.

¹⁸⁶ Dan. 4:18 - spirit of the holy gods is in you: See the footnote at 4:8.

¹⁸⁸ Dan. 4:19 - adversaries: Daniel possessed a genuine desire for the well-being of Nebuchadnezzar. Perhaps he had read Jeremiah's prophecy and knew that the king was God's servant (Jer. 27). Even apart from that, Daniel knew that the God of heaven had given the kingdom to Nebuchadnezzar. He was ruler over people and animals by the decree of God (Dan. 2:37-38). Daniel was genuinely alarmed that harm should befall the king.

¹⁹¹ Dan. 4:25 - seven periods of time: Daniel did not interpret the length of time. Presumably the king's illness would last for seven years, but the numeral may simply indicate a "complete" amount of time. Historians have, however, identified a seven-year period in which Nebuchadnezzar fought no battles.

¹⁹³ Dan. 4:25 - and bestows it on whomever He wishes: God chooses whomever He wishes to rule over any human kingdom. This is consistent with Daniel's statement after God had revealed to him the content and interpretation of Nebuchadnezzar's first dream (Dan. 2:21), "He removes kings and establishes kings." Most rulers are oblivious of this fact. Most arrogantly believe it is their own charisma and intelligence that have put them into office. God wished this particular king to know the truth. This knowledge is a reassurance to all humans who have been placed in a servile environment. It is God who is in control, not man!

¹⁹⁵ Dan. 4:30 - and for the glory of my majesty: This was sheer arrogance and self-absorption on the part of Nebuchadnezzar. As Paul pointed out so eloquently, we exist for the praise of God's glory (Eph. 1:6, 12, 14), not for the praise of our own. We are but a vapor which "appears for a little while and then vanishes away" (James 4:14).

¹⁹⁶ Dan. 4:32 - until you recognize that the Most High is ruler over the realm of mankind: God rules! Men like to think they are the rulers. They are not. It is God who dictates how man is governed!

¹⁹⁷ Dan. 4:32 - and bestows it on whomever He wishes: God rules, and God chooses. No matter whom we elect into office or who inherits a rulership position, it is God who sets kings and lesser rulers in office! This is consistent with Daniel's statement in Dan. 2:21 – God "removes kings and establishes kings."

²⁰⁰ Dan. 4:34 - my reason returned to me: God graciously restored the king's sanity.

²⁰¹ Dan. 4:34 - I blessed the Most High: That a pagan king who had been reduced to insanity for an extended period of time would bless God is remarkable! We could almost say that insanity is glorying in ourselves, and that sanity is praising God for who He is and what He does!

²⁰⁷ Dan. 4:35 - among the inhabitants of earth: God accomplishes His will in the highest reaches of heaven and among all the inhabitants of earth. There is no place from which God's sovereign rule is excluded.

 - E 1 Belshazzar's feast: {1} Belshazzar the king ²¹⁰ held a great feast for a thousand of his nobles, ²¹¹

²¹¹ Dan. 5:1 - held a great feast: Thomas Constable provides the historical background:

Later we shall read that Belshazzar hosted this banquet on the night the city of Babylon fell (vv. 30-31). The invading Medes and Persians, led by Ugbaru, commander of the Persian army, would have already taken the surrounding countryside, and everyone in the city would have known of their intentions. However, Babylon the city had not fallen to an invading army for 1,000 years because of its strong fortifications. According to the ancient Greek historian Herodotus, Babylon occupied about 14 square miles with a double wall system enclosing a moat between the two walls. The outer wall was 87 feet thick, wide enough for four chariots to drive on side-by-side. It was 350 feet high with 100 gates, plus hundreds more towers that

²⁰⁸ Dan. 4:37 - For all His works are true and His ways just: Literally, "For all His works are truth and His ways justice."

²⁰⁹ Dan. 4:37 - He is able to humble those who walk in pride: God opposes proud people, but give grace to those who are humble (Prov. 3:34; Matt. 23:12; James 4:6; 1 Peter 5:5). This was certainly true in the life of Nebuchadnezzar, and also in the life of his grandson, Belshazzar. The latter, in the next chapter, would throw a great party for his nobles when his city was under siege by the armies of the Medes and Persians. That very night he would be killed.

²¹⁰ Dan. 5:1 - Belshazzar the king: According to Thomas Constable, Belshazzar came to power some nine years after Nebuchadnezzar died....The events of this chapter therefore occurred about 66 years after those in chapter 1, and about 36 years after those in chapter 4. Daniel received the revelation in chapter 7 in the first year of Belshazzar (553 B.C., 7:1), and the revelation in chapter 8 in Belshazzar's third year (551 B.C., 8:1). Thus chapter 5 follows chapters 7 and 8 chronologically by 14 and 12 years respectively. Daniel would now have been in his 80s.

²¹³ Dan. 5:2 - taken out of the temple which was in Jerusalem: Out of all the vessels from all the temples in all the lands which the Babylonians had conquered, why did the king pick the vessels of the House of God in Jerusalem to commit sacrilege? One answer might be that these vessels were unusually beautiful. Another answer might be that God wanted to make a particular point about His sovereignty over Babylon. He used this king to make His point. Certainly this was an "in your face" act by Belshazzar against God!

²¹⁴ Dan. 5:4 - praised the gods of gold and silver, of bronze, iron, wood and stone: Not content with defiling the temple vessels, the banqueting crowd blasphemed the God of heaven with their idolatrous speech. The historical events recorded in Daniel 5 certainly illustrate the Biblical maxim, "Pride goes before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall" (Prov. 16:18, NKJV). See also Prov. 18:12.

reached another 100 feet above the walls.[191] Belshazzar's confidence in the security of his capital is evident in his banqueting and getting drunk while his enemy was at his door. His name, which means "Bel [also known as Marduk] has protected the king,"[192] may have increased his sense of invulnerability. Herodotus also mentioned that a festival was underway in Babylon when the city fell.[193]

²¹⁹ Dan. 5:26 - interpretation of the message: Thomas Constable, citing in part, John Goldingay, states,

This much seems clear. The words all referred to measures of weight.[207] Daniel interpreted the consonants by adding vowels, which are absent in Aramaic, as in Hebrew, and made each word a passive participle. The Aramaic word mene means "mena," or with different vowels, menah, "numbered." Daniel understood this word to signify that the number of years that God had prescribed for the Neo-Babylonian Empire had expired. Its repetition probably stressed the certainty of this point. Joseph had told Pharaoh: "Now as for the repeating of the dream to Pharaoh twice, it means that the matter is determined by God, and God will quickly bring it about" (Gen. 41:32). Tekel (cognate with the Hebrew "shekel") when changed to tekal means "weighed." God had weighed Belshazzar and had found him deficient; he was not the ruler that he should have been because of his flagrant refusal to acknowledge the Most High God's sovereignty (v. 22). Uparsin means "and half-shekels." Peras means "broken in two" or "divided" and relates to the division of Belshazzar's kingdom into two parts, one part for the Medes and the other for the Persians. However, paras means "Persia." Persia was the dominant kingdom in the Medo-Persian alliance. Thus prs had a triple meaning. The meaning of these words describing various weights would have been unintelligible to the Chaldean wise men. Even if they had supplied the vowels that Daniel did, and came up with the words "numbered," "weighed," and "divided"—they would have been meaningless without a context.[208]

²²¹ Dan. 5:31 - Darius the Mede: Critics, with their penchant for disbelieving the Word of God, have had a heyday with Daniel's reference to Darius the Mede. Secular history does not know of a Darius the Mede who conquered Babylon. With their policy of rejecting the Biblical record unless it is supported by secular history, critics have attacked the writer's credibility. For those of us who profoundly respect the Biblical record, there are several viable solutions to the problem. See Addendum 2: The Identity of Darius the Mede at the conclusion of this document for samples of solutions.

I, for my part, reject the solutions proffered by both Thomas Constable and J Dwight Pentecost. I find the explanation given by classicists of a bygone era to be more credible. In short, I believe that Darius is the throne name of Cyaxares II, the uncle of Cyrus. (Cyaxares II's sister, Mandane, was the mother of Cyrus.) The following quotation from Wikipedia on Cyaxares II gives credence to Xenophon's Cyropaedia. I believe this credence is ²²⁰ Dan. 5:30 - That same night Belshazzar the Chaldean king was slain: The judgment of God against Belshazzar's pride fell swiftly and finally. The Median and Persian armies had dammed up the Euphrates River upstream and diverted its water into an ancient lake bed. The water level flowing through the city of Babylon began to subside so that the soldiers could wade into the city and capture it. In their foolish pride, the Babylonians left the city unguarded. Had they been on guard, they could easily have defeated the army entering their city. Herodotus describes the conquest as follows:

[&]quot;Hereupon the Persians who had been left for the purpose at Babylon by the river-side, entered the stream, which had now sunk so as to reach about midway up a man's thigh, and thus got into the town. Had the Babylonians been appraised of what Cyrus was about, or had they noticed their danger, they would never have allowed the Persians to enter the city, but would have destroyed them utterly; for they would have made fast all the street-gates which gave upon the river, and mounting upon the walls along both sides of the stream, would so have caught the enemy as it were in a trap. But, as it was, the Persians came upon them by surprise and took the city. Owing to the vast size of the place, the inhabitants of the central parts (as the residents at Babylon declare), long after the outer portions of the town were taken, knew nothing of what had chanced, but as they were engaged in a festival, continued dancing and revelling [sic] until they learnt the capture but too certainly."[248] (This excerpt from Thomas Constable's notes on Daniel was viewed on November 27, 2017.)

justified.

According to Xenophon's Cyropaedia (1.5.2), Cyaxares II followed king Astyages to the throne of the Median Empire, and he was also the brother of Mandane, Cyrus the Great's mother (1.2.1, 1.4.7). He describes the Persian Cyrus as leading the campaign to conquer Babylon in 539 BC, while his uncle Cyaxares remained in Ecbatana [Cyropaedia 6.3.2, 7.4.16, 8.5.17]. Cyaxares was by then an old man [Cyropaedia 4.5.32, 6.1.6], and because Cyrus was in command of the campaign, the army came to regard Cyrus as king. After Cyrus invited Cyaxares to a palace he had prepared for him in Babylon, Cyaxares granted him his daughter (Cyrus's first cousin) in marriage, with the Median kingdom as her dowry [Cyropaedia 8.5.19]. Cyaxares nominally reigned from Babylon as head of the Medo-Persian empire for two years until his death [Cyropaedia 8.6.22, 8.7.1], the real power being Cyrus' [Cyropaedia 8.6.22, 8.7.1]. Upon the death of Cyaxares, the empire passed peaceably to Cyrus [Cyropaedia 8.6.22, 8.7.1].

[&]quot;The downfall of Babylon is in type the downfall of the unbelieving world [cf. Rev. 17—18]. In many respects, modern civilization is much like ancient Babylon, resplendent with its monuments of architectural triumph, as secure as human hands and ingenuity could make it, and yet defenseless against the judgment of God at the proper hour. Contemporary civilization is similar to ancient Babylon in that it has much to foster human pride but little to provide human security. Much as Babylon fell on the sixteenth day of Tishri (Oc. 11 or 12) 539 B.C., as indicated in the Nabonidus Chronicle, so the world will be overtaken by disaster when the day of the Lord comes (1 Th 5:1-3 [cf. Ps. 2:4-6; Rev. 19:15-16]). The disaster of the world, however, does not overtake the child of God; Daniel survives the purge and emerges triumphant as one of the presidents of the new kingdom in chapter 6."[215]

commissioners and satraps

- E 2 The reason for his excellence: because he possessed an extraordinary spirit,
- E 3 The plan of the king: and the king planned to appoint him over the entire kingdom.
- C 2 The plot against Daniel 6:4-9
 - D 1 The conspiracy of the commissioners and satraps 6:4-5
 - E 1 Their search for an accusation against Daniel: {4} Then the commissioners and satraps began trying to find a ground of accusation against Daniel in regard to government affairs; 6:4a
 - E 2 Their lack of success: but they could find no ground of accusation or evidence of corruption, 6:4b
 - E 3 Their plight 6:4c
 - G 1 Daniel's faithfulness: inasmuch as he was faithful,
 - G 2 Daniel's diligence: and no negligence
 - G 3 Daniel's integrity: or corruption was to be found in him.
 - E 4 Their conclusion 6:5
 - G 1 Their inability to find a basis for accusing Daniel: {5} Then these men said, "We will not find any ground of accusation against this Daniel
 - G 2 Their only hope was to take advantage of his devotion to God: unless we find it against him with regard to the law of his God."
 - D 2 The lobbying for the law of exclusive request 6:6-8
 - E 1 The conspiracy of the commissioners and satraps: {6} Then these commissioners and satraps came by agreement ²²³ 6:6a

²²³ Dan. 6:6 - came by agreement: This is the first time this terminology is used. It is the word regash (7284). The NASB footnote gives the alternative translation, "Or thronging." The word has the idea of tumult or confusion (BDB). Indeed, 122 men coming into the presence of the king would create quite a commotion! Certainly a coordinated effort such as this had all the earmarks of a conspiracy. This word is used here, and again in 6:11 and 6:15 (in the English versions).

- E 2 Their approach to the king: to the king 6:6b
- E 3 Their greeting: and spoke to him as follows: "King Darius, live forever! 6:6c
- E 4 Their dishonest portrayal: {7} "All the commissioners of the kingdom, the prefects and the satraps, the high officials and the governors have consulted together 6:7a
- E 5 Their flattering proposal 6:7b
 - G 1 The official nature of the proposal: that the king should establish a statute and enforce an injunction
 - G 2 The prohibition of petitions to anyone besides the king: that anyone who makes a petition to any god or man besides you, O king,
 - G 3 The duration of the law: for thirty days,
 - G 4 The enforcement of the law: shall be cast into the lions' den.
- E 6 Their lobbying for the law 6:8
 - G 1 Their urging of the king to sign the law: {8} "Now, O king, establish the injunction and sign the document
 - G 2 The unchangeableness of the law: so that it may not be changed,
 - G 3 The character of Medo-Persian law: according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which may not be revoked."
- D 3 The signature of the King: {9} Therefore King Darius signed the document, that is, the injunction. 6:9
- C 3 The dedication of Daniel 6:10-15
 - D 1 The knowledge of Daniel: {10} Now when Daniel knew that the document was signed, 6:10a
 - D 2 His entrance into his house: he entered his house (now in his roof chamber he had windows open toward Jerusalem); 6:10b
 - D 3 His continued practice of prayer 6:10c
 - E 1 His position: and he continued kneeling on his knees
 - E 2 His frequency: three times a day,

- E 3 His activities: praying ²²⁴ and giving thanks before his God,
- E 4 His previous practice: as he had been doing previously.
- D 4 The conspiratorial entrance of the spying officials: $\{11\}$ Then these men came by agreement ²²⁵ 6:11a
- D 5 The finding of the officials: and found Daniel making petition and supplication before his God. 6:11b
- D 6 The officials' address to the king 6:12a
 - E 1 The topic of their address: {12} Then they approached and spoke before the king about the king's injunction,
 - E 2 Their question to the king
 - G 1 Injunction: "Did you not sign an injunction
 - G 2 Petition: that any man who makes a petition to any god or man besides you, O king,
 - G 3 Duration: for thirty days,
 - G 4 Penalty: is to be cast into the lions' den?"
- D 7 The reply of the king: The king replied, 6:12b
 - E 1 Its truth: "The statement is true,
 - E 2 The character of the law: according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which may not be revoked."
- D 8 The officials' accusation: {13} Then they answered and spoke before the king, 6:13
 - E 1 Their identification of the violator: "Daniel,
 - E 2 The nationality of the violator: who is one of the exiles from Judah,
 - E 3 The irresponsibility of the violator: pays no attention to you, O king, or to the injunction which you signed,

²²⁴ Dan. 6:10 - praying: When it becomes illegal to pray in our country (and it will – Rev. 13:15-17), will you continue to pray just as you have been doing, or will you stop or try to conceal it?

²²⁵ Dan. 6:11 - came by agreement: This word, regash (7284), was first used in 6:6. Evidently a whole crowd of commissioners and satraps came thronging into Daniel's upper chamber and witnessed him praying the illegal prayer.

- E 4 The frequency of the violation: but keeps making his petition three times a day."
- D 9 The distress of the king 6:14
 - E 1 His deep distress: {14} Then, as soon as the king heard this statement, he was deeply distressed
 - E 2 His determination to extricate Daniel: and set his mind on delivering Daniel;
 - E 3 His continued search for a method of extrication: and even until sunset he kept exerting himself to rescue him.
- D 10 The reminder of the officials 6:15
 - E 1 The conspiratorial entrance of the officials: $\{15\}$ Then these men came by agreement ²²⁶ to the king and said to the king,
 - E 2 The pronouncement of the officials of the irreversibility of the law: "Recognize, O king, that it is a law of the Medes and Persians that no injunction or statute which the king establishes may be changed."
- C 4 The confinement of Daniel in the lions' den 6:16-18
 - D 1 The order of the king: {16} Then the king gave orders, 6:16a
 - D 2 The plight of Daniel: and Daniel was brought in and cast into the lions' den. 6:16b
 - D 3 The encouragement of the king: The king spoke and said to Daniel, "Your God whom you constantly serve will Himself deliver you."²²⁷ 6:16c
 - D 4 The securing of the den 6:17
 - E 1 The placement of a stone: {17} A stone was brought and laid over the mouth of the den;
 - E 2 The seal of the king: and the king sealed it with his own

²²⁶ Dan. 6:15 - came by agreement: This is now the third time that the group of commissioners and satraps made a tumultuous entrance. They had come together as an entire group to make a request for a new thirty-day law prohibiting prayer and petition from anyone except the king (6:6). Then they had invaded Daniel's house and upper chamber and discovered him praying illegally (6:11). Now, they once again flooded the king's courtroom to remind him that there was nothing that could be done to deliver Daniel. By now their evil intentions were utterly transparent.

²²⁷ Dan. 6:16 - Your God ... will Himself deliver you: The king here expressed remarkable faith in Daniel's God. Whether actually believed that, or whether he was simply trying to encourage Daniel, we may never know this side of heaven.

signet ring

- E 3 The seal of the nobles: and with the signet rings of his nobles,
- E 4 The irreversibility of the punishment for Daniel: so that nothing would be changed in regard to Daniel.
- D 5 The insomnia of the king 6:18
 - E 1 The retirement of the king for the night: {18} Then the king went off to his palace
 - E 2 The fasting of the king: and spent the night fasting, ²²⁸
 - E 3 The absence of any entertainment: and no entertainment was brought before him;
 - E 4 The sleeplessness of the king: and his sleep fled from him.
- C 5 The deliverance of Daniel 6:19-24
 - D 1 The concern of the King 6:19-20
 - E 1 His early rising: {19} Then the king arose at dawn, at the break of day, 6:19a
 - E 2 His hurried trip to the den: and went in haste to the lions' den. 6:19b
 - E 3 His proximity to the den: {20} When he had come near the den to Daniel, 6:20a
 - E 4 His agitated cry: he cried out with a troubled voice. 6:20b
 - E 5 His pointed question: The king spoke and said to Daniel, 6:20c
 - G 1 His description of Daniel: "Daniel, servant of the living God,
 - G 2 His identification of God: has your God,
 - G 3 His acknowledgment of Daniel's constant service: whom you constantly serve,
 - G 4 His question of deliverance: been able to deliver you from the lions?"

²²⁸ Dan. 6:18 - spent the night fasting: One wonders if, perhaps, King Darius prayed to Daniel's God on his behalf that night.

- D 2 The response of Daniel 6:21-22
 - E 1 The respectful response of Daniel: {21} Then Daniel spoke to the king, "O king, live forever! 6:21
 - E 2 Daniel's description of God's deliverance 6:22a

 - E 1 The pleasure of the king: {23} Then the king was very pleased
 - E 2 The orders for Daniel's rescue: and gave orders for Daniel to be taken up out of the den.
 - E 3 The rescue of Daniel: So Daniel was taken up out of the den
 - E 4 The absence of any injury: and no injury whatever was found on him,
 - E 5 The reason for his preservation: because he had trusted in his God. ²³⁰
- D 4 The demise of the conspirators 6:24

²²⁹ Dan. 6:22 - inasmuch as I was found innocent before Him: Daniel cites his innocence before God and his guiltlessness before the king as reasons for his deliverance. In 6:23 the text cites Daniel's faith as reason for God's deliverance of him. All three reasons are true, of course.

²³⁰ Dan. 6:23 - because he had trusted in his God: Here the text, written, no doubt, by Daniel, attributes his rescue to his having exercised faith in God. All three reasons cited are true, of course. The writer of the book of Hebrews alludes to Daniel's faith in Heb. 11:33 – "who by faith ... shut the mouths of lions."

- E 1 The orders of the king: {24} The king then gave orders,
- E 2 The arrest of Daniel's accusers: and they brought those men who had maliciously accused Daniel,
- E 3 Their consignment to the lions' den
 - G 1 and they cast them,
 - G 2 their children ²³¹
 - G 3 and their wives into the lions' den;
- E 4 The ferocity of the lions
 - G 1 The victims' arrested fall: and they had not reached the bottom of the den
 - G 2 The savagery of the lions: before the lions overpowered them and crushed all their bones.²³²
- C 6 Darius' defense of Daniel's God 6:25-27
 - D 1 Darius' letter to all his subjects: {25} Then Darius the king wrote to all the peoples, nations and men of every language who were living in all the land: 6:25a
 - D 2 His peaceful greeting: "May your peace abound! 6:25b
 - D 3 His decree that all his subjects are to fear the God of Daniel: {26} "I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdom men are to fear and tremble before the God of Daniel; 6:26a
 - D 4 His description of Daniel's God 6:26b-27c
 - E 1 He lives: For He is the living God 6:26b
 - E 2 He endures forever: and enduring forever, 6:26c

²³¹ Dan. 6:24 - them, their children and their wives: To the modern western mind it seems barbaric that any government officials would be thrown into a den of lions, much less their children and wives. However, these men had acted in their own selfish interests, not in the interests of the king and the government. They could not be trusted in the future to uphold the best interests of the king and his government. Had they only been put to death, their wives and their children would undoubtedly have been embittered. There might have been assassination attempts upon the king at a later time. With the demise of all these commissioners, satraps and their entire families, there would be no reprisals from anyone with an axe to grind, seeking revenge.

²³² Dan. 6:24 - crushed all their bones: The same God who had sent his angel to protect Daniel inspired these rapacious lions to kill all the perpetrators and their families with violent and sudden ferocity. They were out to kill, not merely to eat. We are reminded of the words, "Vengeance is Mine, I will repay" (Deut. 32:35; Psa. 94:1; Rom. 12:19; Heb. 10:30).

- E 3 His kingdom will never be destroyed: And His kingdom is one which will not be destroyed, 6:26d

- E 5 He delivers and rescues: {27} "He delivers and rescues 6:27a
- E 6 He performs signs and wonders: and performs signs and wonders 6:27b
- E 7 He performs mighty deeds in heaven above and on earth beneath: In heaven and on earth, 6:27c
- D 5 His description of God's deliverance of Daniel: Who has also delivered Daniel from the power of the lions." 6:27d
- C 7 The summary of Daniel's successful service: {28} So this Daniel enjoyed success 6:28
 - D 1 Under Darius: in the reign of Darius
 - D 2 Under Cyrus: and in the reign of Cyrus the Persian. ²³³

- C 1 The introduction to the dream 7:1-3
 - D 1 The time: The first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon 7:1a {1} In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon
 - D 2 The written summary of the dream 7:1
 - E 1 Daniel saw a dream and visions in his mind as he lay on his bed;
 - E 2 then he wrote the dream down and related the following summary of it.

²³³ Dan. 6:28 - and in the reign of Cyrus the Persian: Thomas Constable takes the position that this phrase should be translated "even in the reign of Cyrus the Persian" (emphasis his). This translation makes Darius another name or title for Cyrus the Persian. While admitting that possibility, I would also say it is possible that the two were different individuals. The fact that secular history does not know about Darius the Mede should be of no concern to the Biblebelieving Christian. I personally have seen enough of modern-day historians' and journalists' rewriting of events in present-day and more remote history for the purposes of pursuing a certain political agenda that I am forced to conclude that no secular historians are to be trusted entirely. The only guaranteed truth is to be found in Scripture. If we knew all the facts, there would be no apparent discrepancies. The Bible account sounds as if there are two different individuals. Darius is called "Darius the Mede" in 5:31. Here in 6:28 Darius is called "Darius" while Cyrus is designated "Cyrus the Persian." Again, it sounds as though two different individuals are to be distinguished.

²³⁴ Dan. 7:13 - one like a Son of Man was coming: This can be none other than Jesus, the son of David, approaching the throne of God the Father in anticipation of being granted His Millennial Reign from Jerusalem over the entire earth (Zech. 14:9). The instructions earlier in time given to the Messiah (Psalm 110:1-2) were for Him to sit at Yahweh's right hand until Yahweh makes His enemies a footstool for His feet. That is exactly what Jesus has been doing for the past 2000 years – the Church Age – sitting at Yahweh's right hand, waiting until His enemies be made a footstool for His feet. In the meantime He has not been idle. He has been serving as the Great High Priest after the order of Melchizedek, ever living to make intercession for His own (Heb. 7:24-25).

Covenant Theology, represented, for example, by Dominion Covenant Church in Omaha, takes the theological position that, according to Dan. 7:13-14, Jesus is presently reigning over "all peoples, nations, and languages" since His ascension to heaven. That cannot be what God had in mind. Listen to the language of Psalm 110:1-2: "The LORD says to my Lord: 'Sit at My right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for Your feet.' The LORD will stretch forth Your strong scepter from Zion, saying, 'Rule in the midst of Your enemies.' That is a physical, political, and spiritual reign on earthly Jerusalem, not merely a spiritual reign up in heaven.

After the Messiah's session as "priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek" (Psalm 110:4; Heb. 5:6, 10; 6:20; 7:15-17), His current activity during the Church Age, the psalmist continues to speak of Messiah's Millennial Reign upon earth, "The Lord is at your right hand; He will shatter kings in the day of His wrath. He will judge among the nations, He will fill them with corpses, He will shatter the chief men over a broad country" (Psalm 110:5-6). I assure you, there are no corpses up in heaven! This has to be Christ's 1000-year reign upon earth along with the events leading up to the complete establishment of His kingdom and His judgment of all people who will survive the Tribulation period (Matt. 25:31-46) prior to His Kingdom.

²³⁸ Dan. 8:9 - a rather small horn: Based on the ensuing description, this must refer to Antiochus Epiphanes, a violent adversary against Israel. He was the eighth king of the Seleucid dynasty.

²³⁹ Dan. 8:9 - the Beautiful Land: This evidently describes the land of Israel.

²⁴⁰ Dan. 8:10 - It grew up to the host of heaven: Literally, "It grew up to army of the heavens." The noun "host" is tsabá, or tsebaáh (6635). The word means, "army," or in certain contexts, "war." Curiously, when the word is used in conjunction with God's Hebrew name, "Yahweh," NASB translates the phrase, "LORD of hosts." Why? It should be translated, "LORD (Yahweh) of armies" or "LORD (Yahweh) of troops." Daniel 8:9 described Antiochus Epiphanes' horizontal expansion east, south, and into the land of Israel. Daniel 8:10 evidently describes his vertical expansion upwards to the army of the heavens. What does that phrase mean?

There are instances where "host of heaven" ("army of the heavens") refers to the stars up in the heavens. Such references include the following passages: Deut. 4:19; 2 Kings 17:16; 21:3, 5; 23:4, 5; 2 Chron. 33:3, 5; presumably Isa. 24:21; 34:4; Jer. 8:2; 33:22; Dan. 4:35; Zeph. 1:5; Acts 7:42. A smaller number of passages refer to "army of the heavens" as God's army: 1 Kings 22:19 and its parallel passage in 2 Chron. 18:18. (See "Yahweh of Troops.") It is interesting to note that in both instances, the human author records the prophet Micaiah as responding to King Ahab of Israel in particular, and also for the benefit of King Ahab of Israel in particular, and also for the benefit of King Jehoshaphat of Judah, the following. I will give my edited version of 1 Kings 22:19-23 to illustrate. {19} And he said, "Hear the word of Yahweh: I saw Yahweh sitting on His throne, and entire army of the heavens standing by Him on His right and on His left. {20} Yahweh said, 'Who will go up and entice Ahab to fall at Ramoth-gilead?' And one said this while another said that. {21} Then a spirit came forward and stood before Yahweh and said, 'I will entice him.' {22} Yahweh said to him, 'How?' And he said, 'I will go out and be a deceiving spirit in the mouth of

- G 2 Its overthrow to the earth of heavenly powers
 - H 1 Some of the army: and caused some of the host
 - H 2 Some of the stars: and some of the stars to fall to the earth,
 - H 3 Its ruining of them: and it trampled them down.
- E 4 The warfare of the small horn against the Commander of the army 8:11
 - G 1 Its competition with the Commander of the army: {11} It even magnified itself to be equal with the Commander ²⁴¹ of the host; ²⁴²

My tentative answer to these three questions is as follows: (1) The whole, or entire army of the heavens consists of all angelic beings, all of whom were created by God to be his messengers, and, after the advent of sin, his military troops to wage war. By way of precedent, we know that on at least two occasions recorded in the past, a mixture of angels, both good and evil, came to present themselves before Yahweh (Job 1:6-11; 2:1-6. (2) I believe there is significance that some were on Yahweh's right, the place of favor, and upon His left, the place of disfavor (see Matt 25:33, 34, 41). I believe that in Dan. 8:10, the entire army of Yahweh consisted of both the chosen, holy angels, on Yahweh's right, and the non-elect, rebel angels who followed Satan, on His left. (3) I believe Yahweh authorized a demon (spirit, 1 Kings 22:21-23; 2 Chron. 18:20-22) to deceive Ahab through the mouths of his false prophets. I do not see how a holy angel could be a lying spirit.

Back to the passage at hand. I believe the Devil himself was inspiring Antiochus Epiphanes. I believe this passage, at the least, refers back in history to the time when Satan fell from grace and rebelled against Yahweh. At some point he deceived other angels to rebel with him (Rev. 12:3-4). This instance in Dan. 8:10 could look backward to that time.

Another possibility is that Dan. 8:10 refers to another time when the spirit of Antiochus Epiphanes, i.e. the Devil, successfully tempted more (previously holy) angels to join him in rebellion against God in the human drama down on earth. This makes sense, especially, if we understand that Antiochus prefigures the ultimate human rebel against God and His Messiah – the Antichrist, or False Messiah. This one will have a brief but terrifying and damning reign upon earth during the latter half of the Great Tribulation (Rev. 13:1-18; 14:9-12).

 241 Dan. 8:11 - Commander: This is the Hebrew noun sar (8269), which here would better be translated "Ruler." See my explanation in the appropriate footnote at Dan. 1:7. Personally, I believe this refers either to God Himself, or to His Chief Executive, the Messiah, probably the latter.

²⁴² Daniel 8:11 - It even magnified itself to be equal with the Commander of the host: The evil spirit (i.e. the Devil), empowering Antiochus Epiphanes, became great (in his mind) to the point of being equal with the Commander of the army. In my thinking this could be none other than the Second Person of the Trinity, the One who would eventually become the true Messiah, the Lord Jesus Christ. Antiochus did this by sacrificing a sow on the altar in Jerusalem and by halting the sacrifices at the Temple. Antiochus prefigures an even more dastardly rebel, the Antichrist. He is the one described as "the man of lawlessness," "the son of destruction," "that lawless one." He will, likely at the mid-point of the Tribulation, seat himself "in the temple of God, displaying himself as being God." The Lord will slay him with the breath of His mouth at the visible manifestation of His coming (2 Thess. 2:3-8).

all his prophets.' Then He said, 'You are to entice him and also prevail. Go and do so. {23} Now therefore, behold, Yahweh has put a deceiving spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets; and Yahweh has proclaimed disaster against you" (JTB translation).

Several questions come to mind: (1) Of what or whom does the entire army of the heavens consist? (2) Is there any significance that some of the army were standing on Yahweh's right, while others were standing on His left? (3) If the troops standing on Yahweh's left refer to demonic troops, would it more easily countenance Yahweh's authorizing one of the troops to be a deceiving spirit in the mouth of Ahab's prophet?

²⁴³ Daniel 8:12 - And on account of transgression the host will be given over to the horn along with the regular sacrifice. Thomas Constable opines, "God would give control of the host (the Jews) to the little horn (Antiochus) because of transgression. This verse makes identification of the host as the Jews—rather than angels—almost beyond doubt." I disagree. I do not see how a nation on earth, even the nation of Israel, can possibly be misconstrued as "the host (army) of heaven" (Dan. 8:10). A better explanation is not that Antiochus, or even any evil angel or group of angels gain control over the entire heavenly army, but that God, in His Sovereignty, refuses to send His angelic army to rescue Israel or Israel's temple. God puts a stop to angelic rescue, even though the Jewish temple on Mount Zion, God's favorite place, is being appallingly descrated by Antiochus Epiphanes and his forces. It is not God's fault this happens. It is rather because of blatant Israeli transgression (Dan. 8:12).

²⁴⁴ Dan. 8:14 - 2,300 mornings and evenings: It seems best to take these as days, specifically referring to the morning and evening sacrifices that took place each day. It would take 2,300 days for the morning and evening sacrifices to be reinstituted. This most likely refers to Antiochus' persecution of Israel from roughly 167 to 164 B. C.

²⁴⁸ Dan. 8:25 - Prince: This is the Hebrew noun sar (8269), which here, for purposes of uniformity, would better be translated "ruler." See my explanation in the appropriate footnote at Dan. 1:7. This Ruler is none other than Jesus Christ, elsewhere entitled, "King of kings" in Rev. 19:16). In Gabriel's vocabulary, it is Jesus Christ who is the "Ruler of rulers."

Both terms translate the Hebrew noun sar (8269), and both would, for the purposes of uniformity, be better be translated "ruler" and "rulers." See my explanation in the appropriate footnote at Dan. 1:7.

To my thinking this can refer to none other than the King of kings and Lord of lords, the true Messiah (Rev. 19:16). This antagonism will be especially true of the future Man of Lawlessness, known elsewhere as the Antichrist (1 John 2:18). He will be both against the true Christ and will position himself as being instead of the true Christ. His doom is certain.

²⁵³ Dan. 9:27 - and on the wing of abominations will come one who makes desolate: NIV translates, "On a wing of the temple he will set up an abomination that causes desolation." Of course, the word "temple" does not appear in the text. But Jesus seemed to have no difficulty in interpreting Daniel's cryptic statement. He said, {15} "Therefore when you see the abomination of desolation which was spoken of through Daniel the prophet, standing in the holy place (let the reader understand), {16} then those who are in Judea must flee to the mountains" (Matt. 24:15-16). It seems clear to me that Daniel was describing a latter day (eschatological) "abomination of desolation." We know from history that Antiochus IV Epiphanes utterly desecrated the temple. He did so by erecting an image of Zeus in the Jewish temple and by erecting an altar to Zeus on the altar of burnt offerings (1 Maccabees 1:44-54). Then he sacrificed a pig on the altar and ordered the Jews to sacrifice swine's flesh on the altar. This happened on Dec. 16,

 - G 2 His Chaldean name: who was named Belteshazzar;
 - E 3 The nature of the message 10:1c
 - G 1 Its verity: and the message ²⁵⁴ was true and
 - G 2 Its troubling import: one of great conflict, ²⁵⁵

²⁵⁴ Dan. 10:1 - the message: Literally, the noun is the common word for "word" (dabár, 1697). For this use, see Dan. 10:6, 9, 11a, 12, 15. However, "message" is entirely appropriate in the immediate context. Three times in Daniel 10:1, Daniel uses dabár (1697) to describe the message he received. However, 4X in three verses (Dan. 10:7, 8, 16) he also describes the experience as a "vision" (maráh, 4759).

¹⁶⁸ B.C. The Jews referred this act to the "abomination of desolation" (Dan. 11:31; 12:11). But Antiochus IV's desecration of the Jewish temple does not fit with the time frame Daniel is describing in Dan. 9:27. We know that because Jesus referred to a yet future "eschatological" "abomination of desolation" (Matt. 24:15; Mark 13:14). And the Apostle Paul, writing in about A.D. 51 also referred to an end-time desecration of the Jewish Temple by the heinous "man of lawlessness" (2 Thess. 2:3-12).

 $^{^{255}}$ Dan. 10:1 - conflict: This is acceptable, but there is a more accurate translation. The NASB footnote reads, "Or warfare." The Hebrew word is tsabá (6635), a military term which typically means armies in the plural. Here in the singular, "great conflict" should be understood as "great warfare." This warfare is on an angelic / demonic level as well as on a human level. Note, for example, the warfare in the heavens between this unnamed angel and Michael, the prince of Israel, on the one hand, and the prince of Persia, an inveterate enemy of Israel, on the other hand (Dan. 10:12-14, 20-21).

²⁵⁶ Dan. 10:3 - tasty food: NASB footnote: "Literally: bread of desirability"

²⁵⁷ Dan. 10:5 - a certain man: The descriptions of this messenger who was sent from God to Daniel are eerily similar to the descriptions of the risen Christ as He appeared to the Apostle John (Rev. 1:12-16). See a Comparison of the Descriptions of the Messenger Appearing to Daniel with the Description of Christ Appearing to John. The biggest factor undermining the interpretation that this messenger appearing to Daniel was the pre-incarnate Christ is that Daniel's messenger had been delayed for three weeks by the prince of the kingdom of Persia (Dan. 10:10-13). Apparently this messenger was powerless to overcome the "kings of Persia" until Michael, "one of the chief princes, came to help me" (Dan. 10:13). I cannot imagine that the pre-incarnate Christ was powerless, on His own, to overcome the demons empowering Persia. Doubtless these same demons are still empowering the leaders of Iran, the modern day counterpart to Persia.

- G 4 The assistance of Michael 10:13b
 - H 1 Michael's intervention: then behold, Michael, one of the chief princes, ²⁶⁰ came to ²⁵⁹ Dan. 10:13 - prince: This is the Hebrew noun sar (8269), which here would better be translated "ruler." The word "prince" assumes, in Western thinking, royalty, so it is not the best choice of words. But this individual was not a human, and he certainly could not be characterized as royalty. What was he? He was a powerful demon assigned to represent and influence the kingdom of Persia on behalf of Satan himself. He was an upper level demon in charge of influencing the kingdom of Persia. Persia at that time was hostile to the God of Israel and, indeed, hostile to Israel as a nation. After all, Daniel was an Israeli exile held hostage from his native country, and yet working in the regime of Cyrus, King of Persia (Dan. 10:1). The modern country of Iran is the present day manifestation of Persia. It is a Shiite Muslim country fervently hostile to God, the Creator of the Heavens and Earth, who is the God of Israel, to America, and to Christians and Jews all over the world. The good angel (that's what I believe this human-like being from God is) had been sent, presumably from God, to help Daniel understand the meaning of the message he had been given by Gabriel. granted. But he was delayed from arriving to inform Daniel for three solid weeks! And he was powerless to bypass the demon ruler of Persia until he was assisted by Michael, the angel representing Israel (Dan. 10:13).

²⁶⁰ Dan. 10:13 - Michael, one of the chief princes: Once again, "princes" is the plural of the Hebrew noun sar (8269), which here would better be translated "rulers." The word "princes" assumes, in Western thinking, royalty, so it is not the best choice of words. We know who Michael is. (1) Daniel's unnamed interpreting angel, who looked like a man, had been waylaid by a demonic ruler for three weeks. But this unnamed angel stated that Michael, who was one of the chief angelic rulers in the kingdom of God, had come to help him (Dan. 10:13). (2) Evidently Michael

- E 2 The purpose of the visit 10:14
 - G 1 To inform Daniel as to the future of his people, Israel, in the latter days: {14} Now I have come to give you an understanding of what will happen to your people in the latter days, ²⁶²
 - G 2 The vision is about the indeterminate future: for the vision pertains to the days yet future."
- D 5 Daniel's vanished strength because of the vision and the angel 10:15-17

 261 Dan. 10:13 - for I had been left there with the kings of Persia: In the early part of Dan. 10:13 we were told by this unnamed angel that he had been left with the ruler (sar, 8269) (demon) of Persia (Iran). Apparently, other, more powerful demons, identified as "kings," the plural of melek (4428), had come to assist the single Persian demonic ruler. These kings are also to be identified as powerful demons promoting the cause of the godless regime Persia. Doubtless they continue to promote the cause of the godless regime of modern day Iran. It is no wonder that this single angel from God had been delayed. He had been attacked by multiple powerful demons supporting the regime of godless Persia (Iran). Not until Michael had come to assist him was he able to extricate himself from the clutches of the Persian demons.

One might ask why Satan was so intent on preventing this unnamed angel from God from delivering his message to Daniel? The answer is that this message, and the other messages found in the book of Daniel, proclaim the ultimate triumph of God's kingdom through His Messiah over the Devil and his false Messiah, the Antichrist.

²⁶² Dan. 10:14 - in the latter days: Daniel was likely written about 537 B.C. (RSB). Most of the events described by this unnamed angel take place in the ensuing years between Cambyses, the Persian (530-522 B.C., Dan. 11:2) and Antiochus the Great (175-164 B.C., Dan. 11:21-35). However, the last segment, Dan. 11:36-45, outlines the evil career of the Man of Lawlessness (2 Thess. 2:3), the Antichrist (1 John 2:18). So "latter days" marks, in this context, both the next several hundred years following Daniel, but also the extremely troubled times of the Great Tribulation, which was at least two-and-a-half millennia distant from Daniel.

headed up many angels, and he obviously had greater power and authority than the angel communicating with Daniel (Dan. 10:13). (3) This unnamed angel stated that there was no one (presumably, no other angel) who stood firmly with him against the demonic forces of Persia (Iran) except for Michael, who was the ruler (sar) of Daniel and his people, i.e., the nation of Israel (Dan. 10:21). (4) We are clearly told that Michael is the great ruler (sar) who stands guard over the sons of Daniel's people, i.e., Israel (Dan. 12:1). (5) There will be a future time when Michael, guardian ruler (sar) over Israel, will arise to power and prominence (Dan. 12:1). (6) This will be necessitated by the fact that that time will be characterized by unprecedented distress, presumably distress that targets the nation of Israel (Dan. 12:1). (7) At that time Daniel's people -i.e. those of them whose names are "found written in the book," "will be rescued" (Dan. 12:1). (8) We also know that, at a much earlier time, Michael, when he disputed with the devil over Moses' body, did not pronounce a harmful judgment upon him, but rather said, "The Lord rebuke you" (Jude 1:9). (9) From this same passage we find out that Michael is designated, "the archangel" (Jude 1:9). (10) We gather from the passages about Michael, that there are more archangels than just one. We notice, for example, that Michael is "one of the chief rulers" (sar) (Dan. 10:13). (11) We are told that, at some time in the future, there will be war in heaven, with Michael and his angels waging war against the dragon and his angels (Rev. 12:7). (12) But the dragon and his angels would not be powerful enough to conquer Michael and his angels (Rev. 12:8). (13) So the great dragon, Satan, the Devil, deceiver of the entire world, will be thrown down to earth along with his angels (Rev. 12:9). (14) This will announce the soon arrival of the kingdom of God and His Messiah, because the accuser has been thrown down to earth for a short time only (Rev. 12:9-12).

 - G 1 His assurance to Daniel that he would first explain the truth: {21} However, I will tell you what is inscribed in the writing of truth.
 - G 2 His solitary battle against the evil rulers, unaided except for Michael: Yet there is no one who stands firmly with me against these forces except Michael your prince.

- C 2 The angel's explanation of the vision 11:2 12:13
 - D 1 Gentile conflict in the near prophetic future 11:2-35

²⁶³ Dan. 11:1 - In the first year of Darius the Mede, I arose to be an encouragement and a protection for him: In other words, this unnamed angel was on guard to protect Darius the Mede. That helps explain why Darius was so kindly disposed toward Daniel (Daniel 6:1-28). See more information about Darius the Mede in the footnote at Dan. 5:31 and Dan. 6:28.

²⁶⁵ Dan. 11:5 - the king of the South: Ptolemy I Soter (323-285 B.C.). Ptolemy I proclaimed himself king of Egypt in 304 B.C. He was the first of the Ptolemies, a dynasty who ruled until 30 B.C.

²⁶⁶ Dan. 11:5 - along with one of his princes: Better, "rulers" or, in this context, "commanders," or "officials," translating the plural of sar, (8269). The term "princes" suggests that this second ruler was a descendant of Ptolemy. He was not. He was Seleucus I Nicator (312-281 B.C.), one of Alexander's most powerful and capable generals. He became ruler of Babylon in 321 B.C. Another of Alexander's generals, Antigonus, attacked Babylon in 316 B.C. Seleucus requested help from Ptolemy I Soter, who came to Seleucus' aid. It was in this sense that Seleucus was one of Ptolemy's rulers.

²⁶⁷ Dan. 11:5 - a great dominion indeed: Eventually, the territory controlled by Seleucus I, Nicator dwarfed the territory held by Ptolemy I, Soter.

²⁶⁸ Dan. 11:6 - alliance: Though Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt and Antiochus II Theos were bitter enemies, they made an alliance about 250 B.C.

- J 5 And her father: and the one who sired her ²⁷⁵

²⁷⁰ Dan. 11:6 - king of the North: By this time, the king of the North was Antiochus II of Syria. He was a contemporary of the king of the South, Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt. Both were bitter enemies.

²⁷¹ Dan. 11:6 - But she will not retain her position of power: As Queen of the North. When Bernice's father, Ptolemy II Philadelphus, died in 246 B.C., Antiochus II Theos took back his former wife, Laodice.

²⁷³ Dan. 11:6 - but she will be given up: When Bernice heard her (now estranged) husband had been assassinated, she fled from Laodice along with her infant son by Antiochus, which son had been slated to be the next king. Laodice' son by Antiochus II, Seleucus Callinicus had by now been placed on the throne. Probably under the advice of his mother, Laodice, he sent to Daphne to have Bernice and her infant son murdered.

²⁷⁴ Dan. 11:6 - along with those who brought her in: "Perhaps the diplomats who arranged the marriage;" perhaps including those "that attended her from Egypt at her marriage, and continued with her in the court of Syria, and fled with her to Daphne."

²⁶⁹ Dan. 11:6 - daughter: Ptolemy II Philadelphus gave his daughter, Berenice (or Bernice) in marriage to Antiochus II Theos in order to seal the political alliance. Antiochus II divorced his first wife, Laodice, in order to marry Berenice. Ptolemy II was actually friendly toward Israel. According to Josephus, he sponsored the Septuagint translation of the Hebrew Bible into Greek in about the year 250 B.C.

²⁷⁵ Dan. 11:6 - and the one who sired her: Ptolemy II Philadelphus of Egypt, her father. The angel was not suggesting that someone from Syria would murder the Egyptian king, but merely that he would not prosper and survive. He died in 246 B.C., and his death enticed Antiochus II Theos of Syria to violate the (marriage) terms of the alliance with impunity. The death of Ptolemy II triggered the unraveling of the Egyptian / Syrian alliance.

 - J 1 His march: and he will come against their army 11:7b

 - J 5 His restraint: and he on his part will refrain from attacking the king of the North for some years. ²⁸⁰ 11:8b

H 3 The counter attack: {9} Then the latter will ²⁷⁶ Dan. 11:6 - as well as he who supported her in those times: Perhaps her supporting patron; or probably better, her brother, Ptolemy III Euergetes, who obviously supported her, and began marching with his army to save her, but was far too distant to rescue her and prevent her assassination.

²⁷⁷ Dan. 11:7 - one of the descendants of her line will arise in his place: Bernice's brother, Ptolemy III Euergetes (246-222 B.C.), came heir to the throne of his now deceased father, Ptolemy II Philadelphus.

²⁷⁸ Dan. 11:7 - enter the fortress of the king of the North: i.e. of Seleucus II Callinicus, son of Laodice and Antiochus II Theos.

²⁷⁹ Dan. 11:7 - he will deal with them and display great strength: Ptolemy III Euergetes killed Laodice. He also conquered much adjacent territory and held power over it for the rest of his reign. Ptolemy III conquered Syria, Cilicia, parts beyond the Euphrates, and almost all of Asia.

²⁸⁰ Dan. 11:8 - he on his part will refrain from attacking the king of the North for some years: Ptolemy III would have remained longer in Syria to cement his hold there, but word of sedition back in Egypt hastened his return. In 240 B.C. he signed a peace treaty with Seleucus II Callinicus of Syria. This resulted in peace between the kingdoms for a time.

 - H 1 The retaliation of the sons of Seleucus II Callinicus: {10} "His sons will mobilize and assemble a multitude of great forces; 11:10a
 - H 2 The conquest of Egyptian-controlled territory by Antiochus III, the Great 11:10b
 - J 1 and one of them will keep on coming

 - H 3 The retaliation of Ptolemy IV Philopator 11:11
 - J 1 His fury: {11} The king of the South will be enraged
 - J 2 His attack: and go forth and fight with the king of the North.
 - J 3 The forces of the North: Then the latter will raise a great multitude,
 - J 4 The defeat of the North: but that multitude will be given into the hand of the former.
 - H 4 The indolence of Ptolemy IV Philopator 11:12
 - J 1 His defeat of many Syrian troops: {12} When the multitude is carried away,
 - J 2 His pride: his heart will be lifted up,
 - J 3 His prowess: and he will cause tens of thousands to fall;

²⁸¹ Dan. 11:9 - enter ... the South, but will return to his own land: Evidently Seleucus II Callinicus of Syria attempted to invade Egypt, but without success. Therefore he returned to Syria. This seems to be the best understanding of Dan. 11:9, despite the fact that secular history has no record of this invasion.

- J 4 His failure to retake Syrian lands: yet he will not prevail.²⁸²
- H 5 The return of Antiochus III Theos (the Great) 11:13
 - J 1 His assembly of a larger army: {13} For the king of the North ²⁸³ will again raise a greater multitude than the former,
 - J 2 His well-equipped return: and after an interval of some years he will press on with a great army and much equipment.
- H 6 The allies of Antiochus III Theos (the Great) against Egypt 11:14
 - J 1 The participation of the Macedonians: {14} "Now in those times many will rise up against the king of the South; ²⁸⁴
 - J 2 The participation of militant Israelis: the violent ones among your people ²⁸⁵ will also lift themselves up in order to fulfill the vision,
 - J 3 The failure of the Israelis: but they will fall down.
- H 7 The military successes of Antiochus III Theos (the Great) 11:15-16

²⁸² Dan. 11:12 - yet he will not prevail: Ptolemy IV Philopator (221-204 B.C.) did not prevail in the sense of retaking all the Syrian territory controlled by his father, Ptolemy III Euergetes (246-222 B.C.), but he did, at least, regain control of Palestine.

²⁸³ Dan. 11:13 - the king of the North: About 203 B.C., Antiochus III Theos (the Great) (223-187 B.C.), returned with a much larger and better equipped army to defeat Egypt. At that time Egypt was governed by the child king, Ptolemy V Epiphanes (203-181 B.C.). Antiochus was able to retake Palestine as far south as Gaza.

²⁸⁴ Dan. 11:14 - many will rise up against the king of the South: The main participant was Philip V of Macedonia. He allied himself with Antiochus III Theos against Egypt. His hope was to defeat Egypt and seize control over half of Egypt's kingdom, presumably splitting it with Antiochus III Theos of Syria.

²⁸⁵ Dan. 11:14 - the violent ones among your people: These militant Israelis had found Egyptian's conquest of the land of Israel so repugnant that they joined Antiochus III Theos in trying to overthrow Egypt. Many Jewish people welcomed Antiochus III Theos into Jerusalem with open arms, but their joy was short-lived. His son would be an evil tyrant.

- J 1 His capture of Sidon: {15} Then the king of the North will come, cast up a siege ramp and capture a well-fortified city; ²⁸⁶ 11:15a
- J 2 The defeat of the Egyptian forces: and the forces of the South will not stand their ground, not even their choicest troops, for there will be no strength to make a stand. 11:15b
- J 3 The powerlessness of the Egyptian forces: {16} But he who comes against him will do as he pleases, and no one will be able to withstand him; 11:16a
- J 4 His occupation of Israel: he will also stay for a time in the Beautiful Land,²⁸⁷ with destruction in his hand. 11:16b
- H 8 The thwarting of the attempts of Antiochus III (Theos) to regain control of Alexander's empire 11:17-18
 - J 1 His proposal of alliance with Egypt: {17} He will set his face to come with the power of his whole kingdom, bringing with him a proposal of peace which he will put into effect; 11:17a
 - J 2 His giving of his daughter Cleopatra to the boy king, Ptolemy V: he will also give him the daughter of women to ruin it. 11:17b
 - J 3 Cleopatra's siding with her husband: But she will not take a stand for him or be on his side. 11:17c
 - J 4 The continued conquests of ²⁸⁶ Dan. 11:15 - and capture a fortified city: This was evidently the well-fortified city of Sidon. Antiochus III Theos captured the city in 200 B.C. He forced the Egyptian general Scopas, along with his troops, to surrender.

²⁸⁷ Dan. 11:16 - Beautiful Land: Most likely a reference to Israel. When Antiochus III entered Jerusalem, the people welcomed him as a deliverer and benefactor. Antiochus III Theos maintained good relations with Israel. But the later kings of the North (Syria) were no friends of Israel, as the future would demonstrate. To this day Syria remains an inveterate enemy of Israel.

Antiochus III (Theos): $\{18\}$ Then he will turn his face to the coastlands and capture many. ²⁸⁸ 11:18a

- J 5 Roman General Scipio's defeat of Antiochus III Theos: But a commander will put a stop to his scorn against him; moreover, he will repay him for his scorn.²⁸⁹ 11:18b
- H 9 The retreat and death of Antiochus III Theos 11:19
 - J 1 His retreat to his own land: {19} So he will turn his face toward the fortresses of his own land,
 - J 2 His ultimate demise: but he will stumble and fall and be found no more. ²⁹⁰
- G 4 Period Four (187-176 B.C.): The career of Seleucus IV Philopator 11:20
 - H 1 The rise to power of Seleucus IV Philopator: {20} "Then in his place one will arise
 - H 2 His sending Heliodorus to Israel to collect taxes: who will send an oppressor through the Jewel of his kingdom;
 - H 3 Seleucus' premature demise: yet within a few days he will be shattered, though not in ²⁸⁸ Dan. 11:18 - he will turn his face to the coastlands and capture many: When his plans to conquer Egypt with the help of his daughter, Cleopatra, failed, Antiochus III Theos turned his attention to Asia Minor and Greece. He only partially succeeded. He sailed into the Aegean Sea with a large fleet and captured a number of islands and coastal cities under the jurisdiction of Rome.

²⁸⁹ Dan. 11:18 - a commander will put a stop to his scorn: There seems to be no consensus of the precise name of this Roman general. One account says that Lucius Scipio defeated the much larger infantry of Antiochus III Theos at Mount Siphylus and drove him out of Asia Minor. Another account calls him Claudius Scipio. Yet another source labels him Cornelius Scipio (TBKC, OT volume, p. 1369). I was taught in Bible college that Scipio drew a line in the sand with his sword, and said that if Antiochus crossed over, the full wrath of the Roman army would levied against him. Antiochus III Theos backed off.

²⁹⁰ Dan. 11:19 - he will stumble and fall and be found no more: Antiochus III Theos had a huge war debt to pay off. Moreover, he was obliged to pay Rome 1,000 talents each year for twelve years. To raise this capital, he attempted, with his soldiers, to raid the temple of Jupiter Elymaeus by night. But nearby Persians attacked him and killed him. So he died in the province of Elymais. He died in 187 B.C., in the 37th year of his reign, and in the 52nd year of his age.

- G 5 Period Five (175-164 B.C.) The evil Antiochus IV Epiphanes 11:21-35
 - H 1 The first stage 11:21-28
 - J 1 The character of Antiochus IV, Epiphanes: {21} In his place a despicable person will arise, ²⁹² 11:21a
 - J 2 His stealthy rise to power 11:21b
 - K1 The throne was not rightfully his: on whom the honor of kingship has not been conferred, ²⁹³
 - K2 His seizure of power: but he will come in a time of tranquility and seize the kingdom by intrigue.
 - J 3 His duplicity: {22} The overflowing forces will be flooded away before him and shattered, ²⁹⁴ and also the ²⁹¹ Dan. 11:20 - within a few days he will be shattered, though not in anger nor in battle: The taxes levied by Seleucus IV Philopator, elder son of Antiochus III Theos, were so onerous that his Jewish tax collector, Heliodorus, poisoned him. Thus, he did not die at the hands of angry mob, as his father did, nor did he die in battle. He reigned only twelve years, compared to his father's 37 years.

²⁹² Dan. 11:21 - a despicable person will arise: This describes Antiochus IV, "Epiphanes," who was evidently an immoral, drunken man, and one who had a vicious disregard for Israel. This passage describes the evil Antiochus IV, Epiphanes, who serves as a foil or forerunner for the ultimate anti-God, anti-Christ, anti-Israel, anti-Christian "Man of Lawlessness," the Antichrist (2 Thess. 2:1-12; 1 John 2:18-22).

²⁹³ Dan. 11:21 - on whom the honor of kingship has not been conferred: "The Seleucid kingdom's throne rightly belonged to one of the sons of Seleucus IV, the former king and brother of Antiochus IV, but Antiochus IV seized it for himself and had himself proclaimed king. He persuaded the leaders of Syria to allow him to rule since Demetrius, the eldest son of Seleucus IV, was being held hostage in Rome. In this way, through scheming to gain power, he secured the throne for himself" (Thomas Constable).

²⁹⁴ Dan. 11:22 - the overflowing forces will be flooded away before him and shattered: This likely refers to Antiochus' IV's defeat of the Egyptian forces. He first made a covenant of friendship with Ptolemy VI Philometer, then double-crossed him and defeated him in battle. The statement in this verse seems to convey a summary of his deceitful dealings with the king of Egypt. More details are given in subsequent verses. This deceitful strategy will also be utilized against the Israelis by the Antichrist (Dan. 9:27). It is my belief that

This deceitful strategy will also be utilized against the Israelis by the Antichrist (Dan. 9:27). It is my belief that the Antichrist will, at the same, also double-cross the Islamist Arabs (Rev. 17:16-18:24).

prince of the covenant. ²⁹⁵ 11:22

- J 4 His deceitful alliance with Ptolemy VI Philometer of Egypt: {23} After an alliance ²⁹⁶ is made with him he will practice deception, and he will go up and gain power with a small force of people. 11:23
- J 5 His bribery of potential allies: {24} In a time of tranquility he will enter the richest parts of the realm, and he will accomplish what his fathers never did, nor his ancestors; he will distribute plunder, booty and possessions among them, and he will devise his schemes against strongholds, but only for a time. 11:24
- J 6 His conspiracy against the king of Egypt: {25} He will stir up his strength and courage against the king of the South with a large army; ²⁹⁷ 11:25a
- J 7 Ptolemy's mobilization of his army: so the king of the South will mobilize an extremely large and mighty army for war; 11:25b
- J 8 Ptolemy's failure: but he will not stand, for schemes will be devised against him. 11:25c

²⁹⁵ Dan. 11:22 - and also the prince of the covenant: Better, the "ruler" of the covenant. This most likely refers to the Jewish high priest, Onias III. This treachery occurred in 72 B.C.

²⁹⁶ Dan. 11:23 - alliance: Antiochus IV (Epiphanes) treacherously made an alliance with Ptolemy VI Philometer in 170 B.C. But this was only a ploy to ingratiate himself with Ptolemy VI against the latter's rival for the Egyptian throne. All along, Antiochus' objective was to conquer Egypt by diplomacy, guile, and finally by force, as needed. His deceitful, treacherous machinations anticipate the infinitely greater duplicitous threat to humanity, the Man of Lawlessness (2 Thess. 2:3-12).

²⁹⁷ Dan. 11:25 - against the king of the South with a large army: Antiochus IV deemed Ptolemy Philometor too weak to defend his country.

He came with great forces to Pelesium and circumvented Ptolemy Philometor by treachery, and seized upon Egypt. He then came to the places about Memphis; and when he had taken them, he made haste to Alexandria, in hopes of taking it by siege, and of subduing Ptolemy, who reigned there. But he was driven not only from Alexandria but out of all Egypt. He the dealerstion of the Borners. "(Lecentre of the Point Strength Strengt Alexandria, but out of all Egypt, by the declaration of the Romans" (Josephus, Antiquities, XII.5.2). This was Antiochus IV's first foray into Egypt (1 Macc. 1:16-19), and it occurred in 170 B.C. He reached all the way to the Nile Delta.

- J 9 Ptolemy's betrayal: {26} Those who eat his choice food will destroy him,²⁹⁸ and his army will overflow, but many will fall down slain.²⁹⁹ 11:26
- J 10 Dishonest diplomacy by both kings: {27} As for both kings, their hearts will be intent on evil, and they will speak lies to each other at the same table; ³⁰⁰ but it will not succeed, for the end is still to come at the appointed time. ³⁰¹ 11:27
- J 11 The return of Antiochus IV to Syria with plunder: {28} Then he will return to his land with much plunder; 11:28a
- J 12 His greed for Israel: but his heart will be set against the holy covenant, ³⁰²

²⁹⁹ Dan. 11:26 - but many will fall down slain: Antiochus IV invaded Egypt "with a strong force, with chariots and elephants and cavalry and with a large fleet" (1 Macc. 1:16-17). After the battle had begun, and seeing his forces were being overwhelmed, "Ptolemy turned and fled before him, and many were wounded and fell" (1 Macc. 1:18). The forces of Antiochus captured fortified cities in Egypt and plundered the land (1 Macc. 1:19).

³⁰⁰ Dan. 11:27 - they will speak likes to each other at the same table: Unbelievably, Antiochus claimed to be fighting for Ptolemy against a usurper within Egypt, "his brother Euergetes, whom the Alexandrians had set up as king." This council between Ptolemy VI and Antiochus IV took place at Memphis. Each gave the appearance of being friendly and acting in the interests of the other. But neither was sincere. To me this is emblematic of agreements between nations all the time. Both sides do and say the right things, but each is really only interested in his own nation's well-being. Personally, for example, I place no trust or confidence in the United Nations. Representatives of nations, I believe, routinely represent their own country's best interests, not those of the global community. Only Jesus, when He returns to rule this earth, will seek the good of God Almighty, and His chosen nation, the nation of Israel, and through Israel, the good of the entire global community (Isaiah 2:1-4; 11:1-16; 19:18-25).

³⁰¹ Dan. 11:27 - but it will not succeed, for the end is still to come at the appointed time: I.e., the machinations of neither, particularly of the King of the North, will succeed. The final installment of the prophesied wars will obtain in the Tribulation period, the Day of the Lord, during the reign of the Man of Lawlessness (2 Thess. 2:1-12).

³⁰² Dan. 11:27 - against the holy covenant: On his trip home with great plunder from Egypt, Antiochus IV set his heart on violating the people and the worship of God's holy covenant with Abraham and especially God's covenant with Israel with mediated by Moses.

The backdrop to this action is as follows. According to Constable,

A Jew named Jason wanted to be high priest. Knowing Antiochus' reputation, Jason offered the king a bribe to depose the current high priest, Onias III. Antiochus cooperated. This state of affairs encouraged another pretender to the high priesthood, Menelaus, to try the same tactic against Jason. Antiochus cooperated ²⁹⁸ Dan. 11:26 - Those who eat his choice food will destroy him: Evidently King Ptolemy VI was betrayed by people in his own government. As devious as Antiochus IV was, he may have planted counselors in Ptolemy's administration who were, in fact, loyal to Antiochus. There is, however, no Biblical or extra-Biblical documentation of the latter hypothesis.

and he will take action ³⁰³ and then return to his own land. 11:28b

- H 2 The fateful return trip 11:29-35
 - J 1 His return to conquer Egypt: {29} "At the appointed time he will return and come into the South, but this last time it will not turn out the way it did before. 11:29
 - J 2 The counter-thrust from Rome: {30} For ships of Kittim ³⁰⁴ will come against him; 11:30a
 - J 3 His venting upon Israel: therefore he will be disheartened and will return and become enraged at the holy covenant and take action; ³⁰⁵ 11:30b
 - J 4 His regard for Israelis who forsook the Mosaic Law: so he will come back and show regard for those who forsake the holy covenant. ³⁰⁶ 11:30c
 - J 5 His desecration of the temple and sacrifices: {31} Forces from him will arise, desecrate the sanctuary

 303 Dan. 11:28 - he will take action: Taking the actions of Jason, the corrupt Israeli high priest (2 Macc. 4:7-22), against Syrian forces (2 Macc. 5:5-10) as a sign of the rebellion of Israel, Antiochus IV Epiphanes brutally attacked Jerusalem, killing 80,000 Israelis and enslaving just as many (2 Macc. 5:11-14).

³⁰⁴ Dan. 11:30 - ships of Kittim: The ships from Kittim (Cyprus) that came against him were under the command of the Roman consul, Popillias Laenas. At Alexandria, Egypt, they prevented him from a second invasion of Egypt. Frustrated, Antiochus IV returned home and took out his frustrations on Israel on the way back.

³⁰⁵ Dan. 11:30 - become enraged at the holy covenant and take action: Guided by the corrupt traitor of Israel, Menelaus, Antiochus IV raided the temple in Jerusalem (2 Macc. 5:21).

again. Onias, whom the Jews respected, objected and lost his life for doing so.

However, during Antiochus' battle against Ptolemy VI, Jason mistakenly heard that Antiochus had been killed. He took men and began to attack the Syrian forces. Antiochus then assumed that Israel had fought against him, and, upon his return trip to Syria, took terrible action against Israel.

Antiochus IV Epiphanes was Antisemitic, and his long-term fulfillment, the Man of Lawlessness, will be the ultimate human Antisemite, empowered by the greatest Antisemite of all time, the Devil himself. The Antichrist will be the closest possible human manifestation of Satan.

³⁰⁶ Dan. 11:30 - those who forsake the holy covenant: Antiochus IV's officers attempted to bribe influential Israelis to join apostate Jews (2 Macc. 2:15-18) and no longer live by the laws of God (2 Macc. 6:1-2). Renegade Jews like Jason first (2 Macc. 4:7-15), and Menelaus after him (2 Macc. 4:23-26), had successfully bribed Antiochus IV to be appointed high priest. Jason had already fled for his life into the land of Ammon (2 Macc. 4:26), but when Antiochus IV came into Jerusalem, Menelaus cooperated with him in his atrocities against Israel.

- J 8 The resistance of Godly Israelis: but the people who know their God will display strength and take action. ³¹⁰ ³⁰⁸ Dan. 11:31 - the abomination of desolation: Antiochus IV Epiphanes sacrificed a pig on the Jewish altar and ordered Israelis to sacrifice swine's flesh on the altar (Josephus, Antiquities, 12:5:4; 12:7:6; The Wars, 1:1:2). He even set up an image of Zeus, the Greek god, in the temple, and installed an altar to Zeus on the altar of burnt offerings (2 Macc. 6:2). This image of Zeus, a mythological Greek god, placed in the temple of the one true God, plus the sacrificing of swine flesh on the altar occurred on Dec. 16, 168 B.C. But Jesus related Antiochus' abomination to another eschatological event yet future even in His day (Matt.

But Jesus related Antiochus' abomination to another eschatological event yet future even in His day (Matt. 24:15; Mark 13:14). He warned that, in that day, people in Judea must flee to the mountains (Matt. 24:15-16), for then there will be great tribulation such as has not come to pass from the beginning of the world until now, neither shall come to pass (Matt. 24:21). In fact, Jesus continued, if those days of that great tribulation had not been shortened, no human flesh could be saved alive. Yet for the sake of the chosen ones, those days shall be shortened (Matt. 24:22).

I believe that yet future "abomination that causes desolation" will be perpetrated by the "Man of Lawlessness," the "Antichrist," who will exalt himself above every so-called god or object of worship, and will seat himself in the yet-to-be-rebuilt Jewish temple, "displaying himself as being God" (2 Thess. 2:3-4). At the appropriate time, the Lord Jesus will slay him with the breath of his mouth at His Second Coming for the purpose of Retribution (2 Thess. 1:6-9), to be distinguished from the Rapture, His Second Coming for Reunion (2 Thess. 2:1; 1 Thess. 4:13-17).

³⁰⁹ Dan. 11:32 - he will turn to godlessness those who act wickedly toward the covenant: In the days of King Antiochus IV Epiphanes, some renegade Israelis made a covenant with Antiochus and received permission to observe the ordinances of the Gentiles and repudiate the Law of Moses. In so doing they sold themselves to do evil (1 Macc. 1:11-15, 41-61).

³¹⁰ Dan. 11:32 - but the people who know their God will display strength and take action: Led by Mattathias and his three sons, Judas Maccabeus, Jonathan, and Simon (1 Macc. 2:1-70) and supported by the Hasideans, "mighty warriors of Israel" (1 Macc. 2:42-48), the Israelis killed renegade Jews and defeated the Syrian army. Mattathias died in 166 B.C. (1 Macc. 2:70). The term "Maccabeans," after which 1 and 2 Maccabees are named, stemmed from the surname of Judas Maccabeus. It was applied generally to Mattathias, and all his sons. A variant of the name ³⁰⁷ Dan. 11:31 - Forces from him will arise, desecrate the sanctuary fortress, and do away with the regular sacrifice: For the second time (see Dan. 11:28) Antiochus IV Epiphanes took out his frustrations on the people of Israel, the city of Jerusalem, and the temple. He sent his general, Apollonius, with 22,000 soldiers into Jerusalem, purportedly on a mission of peace. But he and his army attacked Jerusalem on the Sabbath, when Israelis were reluctant to take up arms. He killed many Israelis, took women and children as slaves (2 Macc. 5:24-26), plundered and burned the city. Antiochus' objective was to exterminate Judaism and establish Hellenism in the land. He prohibited Jewish observation of the Mosaic Law, and did away with Jewish sacrifices, festivals, and circumcision (1 Macc. 1:44-54; 2 Macc. 6:1-11). He burned copies of the Law. His malevolence toward Israel and Israel's God pales, however, in comparison to the malevolence of the "Man of Lawlessness" during the Great Tribulation (2 Thess 2:1-12; Rev. 13:1-18)!

³¹³ Dan. 11:34 - many will join with them in hypocrisy: As the Maccabean revolt began to succeed, many Hellenized Jews thought it appropriate to join their movement. But they were apostate hypocrites.

 314 Dan. 11:35 - purge: The presence of these apostate, Hellenized Jews proved to be an agent of evil, and many of them had to be killed by the followers of the Maccabees, the pure followers of God.

[&]quot;Hasideans" for these devout Israelis who were loyal to the Mosaic Law and the traditions of Judaism is the term "Chassidim." The Maccabean revolt fueled this conservative movement of turning back to God, a movement that had already begun in infancy. Even today the strictest orthodox Jews refer to themselves as "Hasidim."

³¹¹ Dan. 11:33 - Those who have insight among the people: These would include the Maccabees, Hasideans, and those who joined them in their revolt against Antiochus (1 Macc. 2:15-28).

³¹⁵ Dan. 11:35 - until the end time: Dan. 11:35 serves as a transition from the historical duplicitous enemy of Israel, Antiochus IV Epiphanes, to the end-time duplicitous enemy of Israel and enemy of God and His Christ, the Man of Lawlessness, the Antichrist. This end-time traitor will come into power during the Tribulation, and will briefly control the entire world (Rev. 13:1-18; 17:1-18).

- E 1 His blasphemous rise to power 11:36-39
 - G 1 His self will: {36} Then the king will do as he pleases, ³¹⁶ 11:36a

 - G 3 His blasphemy: and will speak monstrous things against the God of gods; ³¹⁸ 11:36c
 - G 4 His success 11:36d
 - H 1 Remarkable: and he will prosper ³¹⁹

This future king will do as he pleases. He will be a narcissistic, self-willed ruler who will let no law or constitution or opponent stop him from doing exactly as he pleases. He will intend to make alterations in times and in law (Dan. 7:25). In 2 Thess. 2:3 Paul describes him as "the man of lawlessness," "the lawless one" (2 Thess. 2:8). God will permit him to wage war against the saints during the Tribulation period, and he will conquer them (Dan. 7:25; Rev. 13:7). For a time, God will grant him authority over every tribe and people and tongue and nation (Rev. 13:7).

³¹⁷ Dan. 11:36 - and he will exalt and magnify himself above every god: Paul describes him as "the one opposing and exalting himself over every thing being called God or object of worship" (2 Thess. 2:4). He will even seat himself in the temple of God, displaying himself as being God (2 Thess. 2:4)! He will be empowered by Satan himself (Rev. 13:2). Satan, the Dragon, or Serpent, will give to this imposter his power, his throne, and great authority (Rev. 13:2). When this Satanically-empowered man takes his seat in the rebuilt Jewish temple, announcing that he is God come in the flesh (the Satanic version of the Messiah), then, Jesus warned the people of Judea, they must flee without hesitation to the mountains (Matt. 24:15-20)! This man seated in the temple announcing himself to be God, and the image that represents him, also placed therein (Rev. 13:14-15) is the Abomination of Desolation which Jesus predicted would appear in the time of Great Tribulation (Matt. 24:21). This man of Satan will likely seat himself in the Jewish Temple at the mid-point of the Tribulation (Dan. 9:27).

³¹⁸ Dan. 11:36 - and will speak monstrous things against the God of gods: This monster, the Antichrist (1 John 2:18), will be characterized by arrogant and blasphemous speech (Dan. 7:8; Rev. 13:5). He will speak blasphemies against God, blaspheming His name and His Tent, i.e., the ones tenting in heaven (Rev. 13:6). [By this is meant that the Heaven wherein God and the saints presently live, is but a tent, i.e., a temporary abode. God and Christ and all the saints of all ages will eventually dwell entirely upon New Earth, with the vast city of New Jerusalem being the focal point of residence as the eternal Capital City of Israel and all the nations of New Earth (Rev. 21:1-22:5).] Nevertheless, the Antichrist will verbally attack God and Christ and everything they stand for ³¹⁶ Dan. 11:36 - Then the king will do as he pleases: The word "Then" does not appear in the Hebrew text. NASB editors have placed it there because the time period discussed in Dan. 11:36-45 seems to be a more distant time. We can ascertain that "the king" is not, as before, the king of the North, or Antiochus IV Epiphanes. This is true because, in Dan. 11:40, both the king of the North and the king of the South storm against him. Moreover the time indicator of Dan. 11:40 is the "end time." We believe we are justified, therefore, in identifying this "king" as describing the "Man of Lawlessness" (2 Thess. 2:3, 8), the beast "out of the abyss" (Rev. 11:7), the "beast out of the sea" (Rev. 13:1-10), the "scarlet beast" (Rev. 17:1-13), "the beast" (Rev. 19:19-20; 20:10), and the Antichrist (1 John 2:18).

³¹⁹ Dan. 11:36 - and he will prosper: This evil world ruler will be eminently successful, at least for a brief period of time. It has been my belief for some years that he will initially use the false religion of Islam to liquidate opposition and gain control over huge portions of the earth (see my article, "What is the Identity of Babylon, the Great Prostitute in Revelation 17:1-19:6?"). Walid Shoebat believes he will fulfill the role of the Mahdi in Islamic lore. We know from Revelation 13:1-18 that he will gain economic and logistical control over the earth by requiring earth's citizens to participate in his identity / numbering system, known as "The Mark of the Beast."

 322 Dan. 11:36 - He will show no regard for the gods of his fathers: The Hebrew noun Elohim exists in the plural. Typically it refers to the one true God, the God of Israel, who created heaven and earth and everything in them. Typically the plural is translated as singular rather than plural. Here, the NASB editors elected to translate it in the plural and interpret it as nondescript "gods." However, it could refer to the true God, Elohim. We learn from Dan. 9:26 that the "ruler" (nagid, 5057) who is to come will be of Roman origin. Ever since Constantine, for the last 1300 years, that part of the world has been nominally Christian in religion. Having no regard for the God of his fathers may mean that this Roman forsakes the Christian God for the Muslim Allah. It may also mean that ultimately he sets up himself as being God. (We are certain he will do this – 2 Thess. 2:4).

³²³ Dan. 11:37 - desire of women: A reference to Jesus Christ. This evil ruler will be anti-God – any god, and anti-Christ! He will slay as many followers of Christ as he can lay hands on (Rev. 13:7-9; 17:6; 18:24; 19:2).

³²⁰ Dan. 11:36 - indignation: Referring to God's indignation with the world as manifested in the Great Tribulation. This time is also designated as the wrath of the Lamb and the wrath of God (Revelation 6:16-17; 11:18; 14:10, 19; 15:1, 7; 16:1, 19; 19:15). Antichrist's success will constitute, in part, God's wrathful, indignant judgment upon a rebellious world!

³²¹ Dan. 11:36 - decreed: A reference to God's Divine Decree, which, while permitting evil (as here, in the Tribulation period) still accomplishes precisely that which is on God's agenda! Ultimately this will result in God's establishment of His eternal kingdom, beginning upon earth in the Millennium, and continuing throughout eternity in the New Heaven and Earth (Rev. 19:11-22:5).

³²⁴ Dan. 11:37 - for he will magnify himself above them all: As Daniel 11:36 states, this evil man "will exalt and magnify himself above every god and will speak monstrous things against the God of gods." In Paul's terms in the NT, this is the man "who opposes and exalts himself above every so-called god or object of worship, so that he takes his seat in the temple of God, displaying himself as being God" (2 Thess. 2:4).

³²⁶ Dan. 11:38 - he will honor him with gold, silver, costly stones, and treasures: All the kings, merchants, and mariners of the earth will make a financial killing from submitting to the (temporary) Islamic religion of this deceitful world ruler. When he turns on the Arabs and Islam at the mid-point of the Tribulation, and destroys the wealthy oil infrastructure of the Middle East (Rev. 17:16), the kings, merchants, and mariners of the earth will mourn the enormous loss of revenue (Rev. 18:1-24).

³²⁷ Dan. 11:39 - He will take action against the strongest of fortresses: The Antichrist will enjoy enormous success militarily all over the globe (Rev. 13:1-10). By the end of the Tribulation and the Return of Christ for Retribution, he will have persuaded the earth's kings and armies to join him to counter-attack the invading King of Kings and His heavenly army (Rev. 17:14; 19:19). The Antichrist and his allies will fail miserably. He and they will all pay for their opposition to the King from heaven with their own lives (Rev. 19:20-21). The human carnage will be incredible (Rev. 19:20-21; Zech. 14:1-15; Isa. 63:1-6).

³²⁸ Dan. 11:39 - foreign god: Could this be Satan? Certainly the Antichrist will be empowered by Satan (Rev. 13:1-4, 11). Thomas Constable, Notes on Daniel, 2010 Edition, p. 132), takes the position that the Antichrist will idolize the god of power, not some god in a religious sense. He believes that military success is the source of power, and that he will spend fortunes to build up a vast military arsenal. In other words, according to Constable, "he will be a materialist." To me, identifying this "foreign god" as Satan makes more sense than identifying him as "the god of power."

However, in recent years, I have been developing the hypothesis that, though this ruler will emanate from Rome, or at least from the Roman Empire (see Dan. 9:26), he will be Islamic in religion. Indeed, Allah, the War god of Muhammad, is truly a "foreign god." This can be seen in that he, according to Islamic teaching and Islamic practice, authorizes the deaths of the true God's chosen people, Israelis (Dan. 11:41; Zech. 13:8-9; 14:1-2), and the deaths of Christ's followers, Christians (Rev. 13:7-10, 15; Rev. 17:6, 14; 18:24; 19:1-2). If my latter hypothesis is correct, I predict Islam will take over all of Europe. Indeed, it is steadily doing so even in my lifetime. Furthermore, if my hypothesis is correct, Islam will, for a brief time, take over the entire world after the Rapture of the Church. Truthfully, under the immigration policies of both of the Bush Presidents and certainly of President Obama, Islamic immigration into America has reached alarming proportions. For example, under President Obama, of the Syrian refugees being admitted into the US, only about 0.4% were Christian refugees. That was a deliberate stacking of the deck in favor of Muslims and against Christians.

³²⁵ Dan. 11:38 - But instead he will honor a god of fortresses, a god whom his fathers did not know: It is my belief that this means he will honor the Arabic Moon god of War, which Muhammad selected from the Arabian pantheon of 300 gods and renamed, "Allah." It is no surprise to those of us who have not been brain-washed into the politically correct view of the West that Islam is a religion of war, advancing its cause by the edge of the sword.

³²⁹ Dan. 11:39 - and will parcel out land for a price: Bribery and corruption are the hallmarks of many unprincipled rulers. The Antichrist, like Antiochus IV Epiphanes before him, will be no exception. Those who contribute will be rewarded with administrative and territorial powers

³³⁰ Dan. 11:40 - At the end time: This identifies the time framework near the end of the Tribulation. Since the Antichrist will invade the land of Israel (Dan. 11:41), the time described is after his breaking of his seven-year peace treaty with Israel in the middle of that seven-year period (Dan. 9:27). Thomas Constable, quoting Donald Campbell, has described the events of Dan. 11:36-45 as follows:

One writer summarized the revelation about Antichrist in verses 36-45 as follows. He will act in self-will (v. 36), will exalt himself (v. 36), and will magnify himself above every god (v. 36). He will blaspheme the true God (v. 36), will succeed for a limited period of time (v. 36), and will be an irreligious person (v. 37). He will also place confidence in military might (vv. 38-39), his military might will be challenged (v. 40), and he will be initially victorious in battle (vv. 40-43). However, he will face renewed conflict (v. 44), will establish his headquarters in Jerusalem (v. 45), and will finally come to an end (v. 45).

³³¹ Dan. 11:40 - the king of the South will collide with him: After an initial period of false peace during which the Antichrist gains power through diplomacy (Rev. 6:1-2), various parts of the globe will take exception to his power grab. In the earlier verses of Daniel 11, the King of the South was Egypt. This would seem to be the same case here, for the following text explicitly states that Egypt will not escape his attack (Dan. 11:42), nor will it escape his plundering (Dan. 11:43).

³³² Dan. 11:40 - the king of the North: Campbell seems to understand this invasion as being that of Russia invading Israel from the north in a time of peace as indicated in Ezekiel 38-39 (Daniel, Decoder of Dreams, p. 133), though Ezekiel says nothing about an alliance with a southern power. Walvoord (Daniel: Key to Prophetic Revelation, p. 278) disagrees, thinking the Russian invasion of Ezek. 38-39 is earlier. The present writer tends to agree more, however, with Thomas Constable that portions of the "Gog - Magog" prophecy in Ezekiel 38-39 apply to this end-of-tribulation battle that includes the Antichrist battling the Kings of the North and the South, and that portions apply to the post-millennial battle of Gog and Magog as described in Revelation 20:7-10 (see Dr. Constable's Notes on Daniel, 2010 Edition, p. 133 – http://www.soniclight.org/constable/notes/pdf/daniel.pdf). In Constable's view, it is possible, but not crucial, that Russia is included in this invasion from the North.

If, as I suspect, the Antichrist is, at least initially, Muslim, that will not preclude Muslim countries from battling against him. During the latter part of the 20th century, and into the 21st century, Muslim countries have been at war against one another. Much of this turmoil between Muslim countries stems from the fact that some of the Muslim countries are Sunni Muslims and others are Shiite Muslims. There was an extended war between Iraq and Iran in the last century. At the time of this writing Iran and Saudi Arabia are rattling their sabers at one another through proxy warfare.

 - J 3 and the foremost of the sons of Ammon. ³³⁵

³³³ Dan. 11:40 chariots: Campbell believes this could simply be the best description a 6th Century B. C. writer could use to identify modern warfare. He also admits the possibility that some sort of catastrophe or technology has rendered modern warfare obsolete and thus participants must resort to more archaic forms of warfare (Daniel, Decoder of Dreams, p. 133).

³³⁴ Dan. 11:41 - Beautiful Land: Israel. An international coalition of nations, led by the Antichrist, will gather against Israel (Zech. 12:1-3; 14:1-2). But in the long run, to war against Israel is to ensure a nation's own downfall (Zech. 12:9; 14:3-15).

³³⁵ Dan. 11:41 - rescued out of his hand – Edom, Moab ... Ammon: These are Islamic countries who will not join the uprising against the Antichrist. For this reason, they will be spared any retaliation. Edom, Moab, and Ammon all represent the modern country of Jordan.

Daniel 11:40-43 records that the Antichrist will retaliate against the King of the South, i.e., Egypt. But this passage does not record any counter-attack against the King of the North. If this two-pronged attack (by the Kings of the North and the South) is to be identified with the attack in Ezekiel 38-39, the supernatural demise of the northern invaders is the reason why the Antichrist does not at this time attack the King of the North. He doesn't need to. His invader has been destroyed.

On the other hand, there are two reasons why these two military forays may not be identical: (1) Ezekiel 38-39 does not record an attach against Israel by a southern entity. (2) Dan. 11:40-43 does not include any retaliation by Antichrist against the King of the North.

 - H 1 The cause of his assault: {44} But rumors from the East ³³⁹ and from the North ³⁴⁰ will disturb him, 11:44
 - H 2 The fury of his assault: and he will go forth

³³⁸ Dan. 11:43 - and Libyans and Ethiopians will follow at his heels: This means, at the least, that the Libyans and Ethiopians, both neighbors of Egypt, will support the Antichrist. Whether they will do so willingly or by force is not entirely clear.

³³⁶ Dan. 11:42 - and the land of Egypt will not escape: Apparently, the "land of Egypt" represents the King of the South who, along with the King of the North, will revolt against the Antichrist and his reign. The Antichrist singles out Egypt for bloody reprisals.

³³⁷ Dan. 11:43 - treasures of gold and silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt: Throughout the history of warfare, plundering and pillaging has been routine. "To the victor go the spoils." The Antichrist will be no different.

³³⁹ Dan. 11:44 - rumors from the east: No one can know with certainty what these disturbing rumors are at this point in history. Will there be political/military movements in China, or Southeast Asia? J. Dwight Pentecost (Daniel, The Bible Knowledge Commentary) believes this phrase probably refers to "an invasion by a massive army of 200 million soldiers from east of the Euphrates River (Rev. 9:16)." That is possible, but candidly, the language of Rev. 9:16-19 sounds more like demonic horses and riders than like ordinary humans in modern mechanized warfare. More likely, this is a reference to the sixth bowl of God's wrath being poured out on the earth. This dried up the river Euphrates to prepare for an invasion by "the kings of the east" into the Holy Land. Apparently, these kings of the east will endeavor to attack the Antichrist and his followers following his defeat of the kings of the North and the South.

³⁴⁰ Dan. 11:44 - rumors ... from the north: Ezekiel 38-39 describes a vicious (but abortive) assault against Israel from the north. Is the reference in Dan. 11:44 to the same event? Or will the Ezek. 38-39 assault already have taken place? Or will these rumors in Dan. 11:44 mean that the northern coalition of Ezek. 38-39 has rebuilt itself and is threatening again? Regardless, the Antichrist will defeat the alliance from the North.

³⁴³ Dan. 11:45 - yet he will come to his end, and no one will help him: "A startling thing will happen. The armies of the nations assembled to attack Jerusalem, will look up, astonished to see Jesus Christ and His heavenly armies descending to earth (see Zech. 14:1-15). According to John's vision of this great event, the armies of earth will turn from their conflict to attempt to prevent Christ's return. Needless to say, the attempt will be futile as those armies will be destroyed by the word of His mouth and Antichrist will be cast alive into the lake of fire (Rev. 19:19-21) (Daniel, Decoder of Dreams, Campbell, p. 134)." Isa. 63:1-6 also describes the true Messiah's decimation of enemy forces in the Middle East.

³⁴⁴ Dan. 12:1 - Now at that time: "The action here in verse 1 is not subsequent to the preceding events [11:36-45] but coincides with them chronologically." John F. Walvoord, Daniel: The Key to Prophetic Revelation, p. 282. This time designates the latter part of the Great Tribulation

 345 Dan. 12:1 - Michael the great prince: "prince" is not the best translation, for it connotes human royalty. The word is sar (8269), which is a generic word for "leader" or "ruler." Michael is neither human nor royalty. He is, rather, one of only two named angels in all the Bible, the other being Gabriel. He evidently has exceptional power and authority in the realm of God's good angels. He is elsewhere called an "archangel" (Jude 1:9). According to Dan. 12:1 he is especially assigned to look out for the affairs of the nation of Israel. For more details about the angel Michael, see the appropriate footnote at Dan. 10:13.

³⁴¹ Dan. 11:44 - and he will go forth with great wrath to destroy and annihilate many: The Antichrist will crush dissidents from the East and from the North. Destruction and turmoil everywhere lie in this demonically-controlled politician's wake.

³⁴² Dan. 11:45 - He will pitch the tents of his pavilion between the seas and the beautiful Holy Mountain: Apparently a reference to Jerusalem/Mount Zion, situated between the Dead Sea to the east and the Mediterranean Sea to the west. In other words he and allied troops will completely invade Jerusalem and the surrounding portions of Israel.

³⁴⁷ Dan. 12:1 - will arise: When it comes time for God to begin to defeat the enemies of Israel and deliver them from the onslaughts of the Antichrist, God will authorize Michael, on God's behalf, to gather angelic forces to defeat the demons and bring about victory for Israel. See the heavenly battle described in Rev. 12:7-12.

Jeremiah 30:7 5 "For thus says the Lord, 'I have heard a sound of terror, of dread, and there is no peace. 6 'Ask now, and see, if a male can give birth. Why do I see every man with his hands on his loins, as a woman in childbirth? And why have all faces turned pale? 7 'Alas! for that day is great, there is none like it; and it is the time of Jacob's distress, but he will be saved from it."

Zeph. 1:15. (Zephaniah used it in describing "the great day of the LORD.") "A day of wrath is that day, a day of trouble and distress, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and thick darkness."

³⁴⁹ Dan. 12:1 - such as never occurred since there was a nation until that time: This will be a time of unprecedented distress. Jesus quoted this very line in Matt. 24:21 and Mark 13:19. See the extended passage in Matthew 24:15-22

15 "Therefore when you see the ABOMINATION OF DESOLATION which was spoken of through Daniel the prophet, standing in the holy place (let the reader understand), 16 then those who are in Judea must flee to the mountains. 17 Whoever is on the housetop not go down to get the things out that are in his house. 18 Whoever is in the field must not turn back to get his cloak. 19 But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! 20 But pray that your flight will not be in the winter, or on a Sabbath. 21 For then there will be a great tribulation such as has not occurred since the beginning of the world until now, nor ever will. 22 Unless those days had been cut short, no life would have been saved; but for the sake of the elect those days shall be cut short."

³⁵⁰ Dan. 12:1 - written in the book: Apparently a reference to the "Book of Life," in which have been written from eternity past all the names of God's elect, whether Jew or Gentile (Rev. 3:5; 13:8; 17:8; 20:12, 15; 21:27, 29).

³⁵¹ Dan. 12:1 - will be rescued: During the course of the Tribulation huge portions of the Jewish population will be killed. Zechariah 13:8-9 declares, {8} "It will come about in all the land," declares the Lord, "That two parts in it will be cut off and perish; but the third part will be left in it. {9} "And I will bring the third part through the fire, refine them as silver is refined, and test them as gold is tested. They will call on My name, and I will answer them; I will say, 'They are My people,' and they will say, 'The Lord is my God.'" As Zech. 13:9 and Daniel 12:1b indicate, those preserved alive [presumably at the very end, when Christ Himself returns] will all be rescued from physical destruction, provided their names were written in the book [of life], ³⁴⁶ Dan. 12:1 - who stands guard over the sons of your people: Michael, an archangel (chief angel or ruling angel) apparently has been assigned by God to stand guard over the welfare of Daniel's people, the sons of Israel, against tremendous onslaughts down through the centuries by demonic adversaries animating evil humans.

³⁴⁸ Dan. 12:1 - time of distress: The word is tsaráh (6869). This refers to the Great Tribulation, a time of unprecedented trouble upon the earth. This is the only time Daniel used this word in his entire book. Other uses of this word by prophets referring to the same time of great trouble, the Tribulation include the following (emphases mine):

- E 3 The resurrection: {2} "Many of those who sleep in the dust of the ground will awake, 12:2
 - G 1 Of life: these to everlasting life, ³⁵²
 - G 2 Of damnation: but the others to disgrace and everlasting contempt. ³⁵³

- E 5 The sealing up of the prophecy until the end time 12:4
 - G 1 The angel's command to seal up these words until the end of time: {4} "But as for you, Daniel, conceal these words and seal up the book until the ³⁵² Dan. 12:2 - everlasting life: This is the resurrection of Old Testament Hebrew saints. The dead of the Church Age have already been resurrected seven years prior to this (1 Thess. 4:13-18). Presumably, Old Testament Gentile saints will also be resurrected at this time, but that is not the point of this passage. This resurrection occurs in conjunction with the return of the Messiah to reign over the earth for a thousand years (Rev. 19:11-20:6).

³⁵³ Dan. 12:2 - disgrace and everlasting contempt: This resurrection to damnation is actually separated in time from the resurrection of the Old Testament saints by a 1000 years. As is frequently the case in the O. T., future events are sometimes telescoped into one description, even though they may be separated by many years. Revelation 20:4-5 describes it thus: 4 "...And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded because of the testimony of Jesus and because of the word of God, and those who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received the mark on their forehead and on their hand; and they came to life and reigned with Christ for a thousand years. 5 The rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were completed.... (italics mine)."

³⁵⁴ Dan. 12:3 - Those who have insight will shine brightly like the brightness of the expanse of heaven: Those who have insight, in this context, refers to Jewish believers in the Messiah. During His 1000 year kingdom upon earth, these believers will be granted honor and glory, and, I believe, there will be an observable glory of light emanating from their beings. See also Matt. 13:43, "Then THE RIGHTEOUS WILL SHINE FORTH AS THE SUN in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears, let him hear."

meaning that they are elect, spiritual Israel, who have trusted in their Messiah. This is beautifully and poignantly illustrated in Zechariah 12:10 "And I will pour out on the house of David and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the Spirit of grace and of supplication, so that they will look on Me whom they have pierced; and they will mourn for Him, as one mourns for an only son, and they will weep bitterly over Him, like the bitter weeping over a first-born." John F. Walvoord, Daniel: The Key to Prophetic Revelation, p. 284, states: "The deliverance will not extend to all Israel in that unbelieving or apostate Israel is excluded; and even here, it refers only to those actually living at the time of the return of Christ as many others may be martyred."

³⁵⁵ Dan. 12:3 - and those who lead the many to righteousness, like the stars forever and ever: In true Hebrew parallelism, the angel adds this further description identifying those who have insight – not only will they themselves believe in Jesus as the Messiah, but they will lead many other Israelis and, presumably, non-Jewish people from among the nations of the earth, to do the same thing. This will involve living a life of faith and commitment to God and to Christ and to their people. See the reference to Jewish judgment leading to the glories of the Messianic Kingdom for those who possess the Spirit and serve the King in faith (Matt. 25:1-13; 25:14-30 – compare Luke 19:11-27). For the judgment of the believing / obeying Gentiles, see Matt. 25:31-46.

³⁵⁸ Dan. 12:4 - and knowledge will increase: Another condition that will prevail at the time of the end will be increased knowledge. Man's accomplishments such as printing presses, computers, word-processing programs, and videos, much of it available on the internet, has increased human knowledge exponentially. Again, we are nearing the end of time.

This messenger may also be saying that the events he detailed in Dan. 10-12 will become more understandable when the world reaches the end of time. As the human race progressed in time through the events recorded in Daniel 11, for example, the battles between the Seleucids and the Ptolemies, it became easier to identify the fulfillment of those prophecies. Just so, when people enter the Tribulation period and watch prophesied events unfolding in rapid-fire succession, they will be able to understand ever more clearly God's time-table for the end.

God does not want believers to be ignorant about the future. He wants us to know in advance what will happen. People who believe what God says will adjust their living and their lifestyles to reflect God's values.

³⁵⁹ Dan. 12:5 - two others were standing: I believe these were two other messengers (i.e., angels) from God assisting the unnamed angel who had been informing Daniel of events in the future. We first meet this unidentified angel in Dan. 10:5. He is identified as "a certain man dressed in linen" (Dan. 10:5; 12:6, 7).

³⁵⁶ Dan. 12:4 - until the end of time: In the context of the book of Daniel, the "end of time" refers to the Tribulation period, the Second Coming of Christ, and the Reign of Christ.

³⁵⁷ Dan. 12:4 - Many will go back and forth: One of the conditions that will prevail at the time of the end will be increased mobility. With the arrival of the automobile, large ships, jet planes, and even rocket ships, this condition has been met. I believe we are very near the end of time as described by this human-like messenger.

³⁶⁰ Dan. 12:6 - man dressed in linen: This is evidently the same angel who first appeared to Daniel in Dan. 10:5 and had been narrating the entire explanation of his delay in 10:11 - 11:1 and then interpreting Daniel's vision prophetically from 11:2 - 12:4.

³⁶² Dan. 12:7 - and as soon as they finish shattering the power of the holy people: The enemies of the world, led by the Antichrist, will be hell-bent on destroying Israel. It will be their desire to obliterate and utterly exterminate the Israelis. They will nearly succeed (Zech. 13:8-9). God will use this fiendishly anti-Israel mind-set of the nations of the world led by the Antichrist to entrap representatives of all nations in Israel, and then Himself deliver the "knockout" blow to them. This Divine entrapment is described in Zech. 12:2-9. The returning Messiah will destroy earth's anti-Israel armies (Zech. 14:1-15). Then the events described in Daniel will have been completed, and Messiah will set up His global reign (Dan. 2:44-45; 7:13-14).

³⁶⁴ Dan. 12:10 - Many will be purged, purified and refined: Many Jewish people (and Gentiles as well) will be purified of their evil and turn to God during the terrible time of the world-wide Tribulation. These will be those who defy the evil world ruler and do not worship him or give in to his identification system just to be able to purchase food and other commodities (Rev. 13:16-18; 14:9-13). Those who die as martyrs for the sake of the Kingdom of Heaven during the Tribulation will constitute a vast, innumerable multitude up in heaven from every nation and tribes and peoples and tongues. They will be clothed in white robes and sing praise to God and to the Lamb (Rev. 7:9-17). For most of those who buck Antichrist's system and stay true to God and to Christ, the result will be death. A few will survive the horrors of the Tribulation to repopulate the Millennial earth in their natural, mortal bodies.

³⁶⁵ Dan. 12:10 - but the wicked will act wickedly, and none of the wicked will understand: All people are born stained by sin. During the Tribulation, the vast majority of people will not understand God's Word, and they will refuse to accept God's forgiveness of their sins through Christ's sacrificial death on their behalf. Faced with horrendous plagues and disasters, these evil people will refuse to repent of their evil, and will blaspheme God (Rev. 9:20-21; 16:8-11).

³⁶⁶ Dan. 12:10 - but those who have insight will understand: There will be a few who are granted insight by God's Holy Spirit, will understand God's Word and God's plan, and will be wise enough to accept God's forgiveness in Christ.

³⁶³ Dan. 12:9 - Go your way, Daniel, for these words are concealed and sealed up until the end time: Despite the lengthy explanations by various angels, Daniel was mystified as to the specific ways in which all these prophecies would unfold. And who can blame him?

We are, I believe, standing today near the threshold of the End-Time. Even in my lifetime of seventy years, the way prophecy will eventually unfold is becoming gradually far clearer to me now than it was to me in my childhood, or even to my father. My father was keenly interested in Biblical prophecy, but he died in 2000. In the last 17 years, events have taken place that have enabled me ever more clearly to see how matters will turn out in the Tribulation period. It should be no surprise that the early church fathers who tried to interpret prophetic Scriptures knew less than we know today. The charge by non-Dispensationalists, for example, that John Darby could not be trusted because he invented a new understanding of prophetic Scriptures unknown to the early church, simply displays their own ignorance. We should know more about the future as current events draw us ever nearer the fulfillment of these prophecies. I might add a caveat. Those who uniformly take prophetic Scriptures non-literally cannot expect to have a good understanding of them. And that would apply to most of Christendom today.

³⁶⁸ Dan. 12:12 - How blessed is he who keeps waiting and attains to the 1,335 days: 1335 days adds another 45 days to the period of 1290 days revealed in Dan. 12:11. Since 1260 days represents the last half of the Tribulation, and another 30 days represents, presumably, time for Christ to judge the survivors of the Tribulation, what is the purpose of the additional 45 days? One can only speculate. Perhaps it provides time for the King and His subjects to perform some global house-cleaning after the horrors of the Tribulation. Perhaps the extra 45 days provide ample time for the new King and the people of Israel to schedule and plan for the King's official inauguration / anointing preparatory to his taking His seat in Jerusalem. Perhaps it provides time for a miraculous building of the Final Temple described in Ezekiel 40:5 - 42:20. The King's inauguration / anointing and entry into the Temple may be described in Ezek. 43:1-9.

³⁶⁹ Dan. 12:13 - then you will enter into rest: A euphemism for physical death. Daniel was to go about his business. He would die before all these prophecies would be fulfilled.

 $^{^{367}}$ Dan. 12:11 - 1,290 days: 3.5 X 12 months X 30 days = 1260 days. In general terms, this angel informed Daniel of the time frame of the last half of the Tribulation period. Presumably the extra 30 days includes time enough for Christ to  judge, from among all the nations of the world, those individuals who survived the tribulation era (Matt. 25:31-46). It will also allow time for Christ to purge out all the rebels from the nation of Israel (Ezek. 20:33-38). Christ will know the truth about each individual, and no false witnesses or points of order or delay tactics will be permitted (Isa. 11:1-6)!

What is the sequence of events? No one can say with certainty, but this seems to be a likely scenario. The Antichrist makes a seven-year peace pact with Israel. This begins Daniel's Seventieth Seven of Years (Heptad) (Dan. 9:27). Israel has, at the outset of the seven-year period, been guaranteed security by the antichrist (Dan. 9:27). At some point a northern coalition (which may include Russia) invades (Dan. 11:40). Antichrist responds by attacking and defeating the Northern/African alliance armies in Israel, probably at Megiddo (11:41). It is at this point that Antichrist breaks his covenant with Israel, becoming their persecutor instead of their protector (Campbell, p. 134). This will mark the beginning of the Campaign of Armageddon, which will last three and a half years. At some point during this time, he seats himself as God in the temple, the Abomination that causes desolation referred to in Daniel 9:27 and Matthew 24:15, and described in 2 Thessalonians 2:4. Antichrist will pursue the southern coalition into Africa and defeat it, gaining great wealth in the process (Campbell, p. 133). Possibly the text does not mention in Dan. 11:42-43 his dealing with the northern foe precisely because, as Ezek. 38-39 predicts, Russia(?) is miraculously destroyed!

the end of the age." ³⁷⁰

Addendum 1: Lessons from the Book of Daniel

What lessons can we learn from the book of Daniel?

- 1. God has chosen to give His chosen people, Israel, a fairly detailed outline of history as it relates to the sons of Israel.
- 2. This detailed outline includes the progress of major Gentile world empires.
- 3. Evidently God wants both Jewish and Gentile believers to know the future.
- 4. It is true that God expects us to live a certain way in view of future events. It is equally true that God wants us to know what those future events are. There some Christians who seem, by their comments, to begrudge us that knowledge. Their animus is most often detected as snide comments against dispensationalists and their prophecy charts.
- 5. One lesson from the book of Daniel is that committed believers will encounter fierce opposition as we travel through life.
- 6. Another lesson is that God is absolutely sovereign over world history. He does whatever He wishes in the affairs of man.
- 7. God's people will often bear the brunt of the anti-God, anti-Israel machinations of ruthless dictators.
- 8. In the end Christ's kingdom will triumph over the evil, demon-driven empires of fallen men.

Addendum 2: The Identity of Darius the Mede

Critics, with their penchant for disbelieving the Word of God, have had a heyday with Daniel's reference to Darius the Mede in Daniel 5:31. Secular history does not know of a Darius the Mede who conquered Babylon. With their policy of rejecting the Biblical record unless it is supported by secular history, critics have attacked the writer's credibility. For those of us who profoundly respect the Biblical record, there are several viable solutions to the problem.

There follows here the footnote at Dan. 5:31 as I once had it:

(1) Darius is a title, much like "Pharaoh" in Egyptian terminology, or "Caesar" in Rome, or "Kaiser" in Germany. In this case, "Darius" may refer to Cyrus, who was of Median descent. A variation of this view is that Cyrus was known by two different names. This is not unprecedented, even in the modern era. Pope Francis, the current pope, for ³⁷⁰ Dan. 12:13 - and rise again for your allotted portion at the end of the age: Without a doubt, the OT teaches resurrection. Daniel's resurrection, along with that of other believing Jewish people, would occur at the end of the age. This means he and they will be resurrected at Christ's Second Coming, and participate in His Millennial Kingdom. During that Kingdom, Daniel will have an "allotted portion." The King will have a particular assignment for Daniel, and for all those Jewish people who have been true to God. Of course, there will be allotted roles for believing Gentiles also. But that is not the point of this prediction.

example, was born Jorge Mario Bergoglio. (2) Another possibility is that "Darius" is another name for "Gubaru" (Gobryas), who ruled Babylon under Cyrus. (3) Another view is that "Darius" is another name for Cyrus' son Cambyses, who ruled Persia from 530-522 BC. (4) Another view is that Darius is to be identified with Cyrus' uncle, Cyaxares II. According to this view Cyaxares II and Cyrus cooperated in conquering Babylon, and Cyaxares II became viceroy of Babylon for two years prior to his death.

No one can be certain, but I find the first explanation the simplest and most plausible. If this explanation is correct, it may also be necessary to translate, as D. J. Wiseman (Notes on Some Problems in the Book of Daniel, p. 14) has done, Dan. 6:28 as follows, "So this Daniel enjoyed success in the reign of Darius, even in the reign of Cyrus the Persian" (emphasis mine). What is certain is that the writer Daniel is accurate, and even knew the age of Darius – 62. According to Daniel 6, Darius had an exceedingly high regard for Daniel. Daniel could not have been mistaken about his identity.

Allow me to make a couple of observations. There are several references to Darius in the book of Daniel.

- 1. Daniel was quite specific in his historical statements. He recorded the following in Dan. 5:30-31: 30 That same night Belshazzar the Chaldean king was slain. 31 So Darius the Mede received the kingdom at about the age of sixty-two.
 - a. He identified Belshazzar as the Chaldean king who was slain.
 - b. He identified the conqueror of the city of Babylon as Darius the Mede.
 - c. He stated that Darius the Mede received the kingdom.
 - d. He stated that Darius the Mede was about 62 when he received the kingdom.
- 2. Daniel attributed to this same Darius the Mede the authority to appoint 120 satraps over the entire kingdom in Dan. 6:1-3: 1 "It seemed good to Darius to appoint 120 satraps over the kingdom, that they would be in charge of the whole kingdom, 2 and over them three commissioners (of whom Daniel was one), that these satraps might be accountable to them, and that the king might not suffer loss. 3 Then this Daniel began distinguishing himself among the commissioners and satraps because he possessed an extraordinary spirit, and the king planned to appoint him over the entire kingdom."

- a. Daniel specifically identified the same king who conquered the city of Babylon as Darius (Dan. 6:1).
- b. He stated that Darius had the authority to make appointments over the whole kingdom, and that he proceeded to do so.
 - i. Darius appointed 120 satraps over the kingdom to be in charge of the whole kingdom (Dan. 6:1)
 - ii. Darius appointed three commissioners, to whom the 120 satraps were to give an accounting. These commissioners, in turn, were to protect the interests of the king (Dan. 6:2).
 - iii. Daniel himself was one of these three commissioners over the 120 satraps (Dan. 6:2).
- c. Daniel began distinguishing himself among the commissioners and satraps because he possessed "an extraordinary spirit" (Dan. 6:3).
- d. King Darius was so impressed with Daniel that he planned to put Daniel in charge of the entire kingdom (Dan. 6:3)!
- 3. The other commissioners and satraps were jealous of Daniel and wished to kill him. When they approached the king, they specifically identified him as "King Darius" (Dan. 6:6): "Then these commissioners and satraps came by agreement to the king and spoke to him as follows: 'King Darius, live forever!'....'
- 4. The narrative once again identified the reigning king as "King Darius" (Dan. 6:9): "Therefore King Darius signed the document, that is, the injunction."
- 5. King Darius, his commissioners and satraps, and Daniel, who recorded this history, were all familiar with the distinctions between Medes and Persians. So when Daniel called King Darius "Darius the Mede" (Dan. 5:31), that is significant. When Daniel later referred to "Cyrus the Persian" (Dan. 6:28), it makes it exceedingly difficult for me to conclude that Darius and Cyrus were one and the same.
 - a. King Darius acknowledged that the law he had signed was in accordance with "the law of the Medes and Persians, which may not be revoked." (Dan. 6:12) Then they approached and spoke before the king about the king's injunction, "Did you not sign an injunction that any man who makes a petition to any god or man besides you, O king, for thirty days, is to be cast into the lions' den?" The king replied, "The statement is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which may not be revoked."
 - b. The commissioners and satraps who were intending to destroy Daniel also were aware of the respective identities of the "Medes and Persians." (Dan. 6:15): Then these men came by agreement to the king and said to the king, "Recognize, O king, that it is a law of the Medes and Persians that no injunction or statute which the king establishes may be changed."
- 6. King Darius appears to have been exceedingly close to Daniel. He trusted him, and had confidence in Daniel's God, whom, he acknowledged, Daniel constantly served.

- a. Dan. 6:16: 16 Then the king gave orders, and Daniel was brought in and cast into the lions' den. The king spoke and said to Daniel, "Your God whom you constantly serve will Himself deliver you."
- b. The king, whom Daniel identified as Darius the Mede, was extremely solicitous about the welfare of Daniel. He was very attached emotionally to Daniel. "Then the king went off to his palace and spent the night fasting, and no entertainment was brought before him; and his sleep fled from him." (Dan. 6:18).
- c. King Darius arose at dawn and hurried to the lions' den to see what had become of Daniel. He asked if Daniel's God, whom Daniel constantly served, been able to deliver him. He was very pleased to find out that Daniel had been delivered (Dan. 6:19-23):

19 Then the king arose at dawn, at the break of day, and went in haste to the lions' den. 20 When he had come near the den to Daniel, he cried out with a troubled voice. The king spoke and said to Daniel, "Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you constantly serve, been able to deliver you from the lions?" 21 Then Daniel spoke to the king, "O king, live forever! 22 My God sent His angel and shut the lions' mouths and they have not harmed me, inasmuch as I was found innocent before Him; and also toward you, O king, I have committed no crime." 23 Then the king was very pleased and gave orders for Daniel to be taken up out of the den.

7. King Darius was so impressed with Daniel's deliverance and the God who delivered him, that he issued a nation-wide decree that men in his kingdom were to fear and tremble before the God of Daniel (Dan. 6:25-27):

25 Then Darius the king wrote to all the peoples, nations and men of every language who were living in all the land: "May your peace abound! 26 I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdom men are to fear and tremble before the God of Daniel;

For He is the living God and enduring forever, And His kingdom is one which will not be destroyed, And His dominion will be forever. 27 "He delivers and rescues and performs signs and wonders In heaven and on earth, Who has also delivered Daniel from the power of the lions."

- 8. Since Daniel and King Darius were this close in their relationship

- 10. Daniel was an eyewitness to the events recorded in this book. He of all people should know the facts accurately. Daniel is a historical eyewitness, and his testimony is to be trusted first and foremost over any other historical witness or commentator, all of whom lived much later and were not eyewitnesses.
- 11. Daniel made a very specific identification of Darius as being "Darius the Mede, who received the kingdom at about the age of 62." Daniel was able to identify Darius' lineage and even his age.

No one can be certain, but I find the first explanation the simplest and most plausible. If this explanation is correct, it may also be necessary to translate, as D. J. Wiseman (Notes on Some Problems in the Book of Daniel, p. 14) has done, Dan. 6:28 as follows, "So this Daniel enjoyed success in the reign of Darius, even in the reign of Cyrus the Persian" (emphasis mine). What is certain is that the writer Daniel is accurate, and even knew the age of Darius – 62. According to Daniel 6, Darius had an exceedingly high regard for Daniel. Daniel could not have been mistaken about his identity.
